A COMPLETE REFERENCE

The Ares fund catalogue

Every fund Ares names in its annual report, organised, decoded and explained — starting from "what is a fund?" and ending with a reference card you can revise from.

9 One-page reference card

Assembled from the Ares FY2025 Form 10-K and its Exhibit 21.1 subsidiary list (SEC EDGAR, CIK 1176948), plus Q1–Q2 2026 earnings materials and fund-level filings. Figures as at 31 December 2025 unless stated.
Compiled 12 October 2026. This is a reference document — skim Parts 1–4, then use Parts 5–9 to look things up.

PART 1

What a fund actually is

Thirty seconds of groundwork that makes everything after it readable.

A fund is a pot of money with rules. Investors put money in. A manager decides what to buy with it. A legal document — the limited partnership agreement or prospectus — sets out what the manager may buy, what they get paid, how long it lasts, and how investors get their money back. That is the whole concept.

Three things follow, and they explain why there are so many funds:

- A fund is a separate legal entity, not an account at Ares. If Ares disappeared tomorrow, the fund and its assets would still exist. That separation is the point.
- One fund does one thing. Investors buy a specific exposure, so a fund that lends to US companies cannot suddenly buy Japanese warehouses. To offer a second strategy, you need a second fund.
- Different investors need different containers. A US pension fund, a European individual and a Japanese insurer face different tax and regulatory rules. The same strategy may be offered through three different legal wrappers to reach all three.

That is why Ares runs over 300 funds in Credit alone, and why the catalogue looks intimidating at first. It is not 300 ideas. It is roughly a dozen strategies, each offered in several containers, each refreshed every few years.

Every fund name is three decisions stacked together

The same strategy in a different container becomes a different fund. US mid-market senior lending is sold through ARCC (listed), ASIF (non-traded, for individuals), SDL III (a closed-end fund for institutions), and separately managed accounts. One strategy, four containers.

PART 2

Two shapes: funds that end, and funds that don't

The first question to ask about any fund. It changes everything else.

SHAPE A Closed-end / drawdown

Has a fixed life, usually about ten years. Investors commit money which is called in instalments, invested, then returned as assets are sold. Then the fund closes forever.

Spot it by: a Roman numeral. ACE VI, SDL III, ASOF II. Numerals exist because the fund dies and you must raise a successor. Numeral = finite life.

SHAPE B Open-ended / evergreen

Has no end date. Money comes in monthly, stays invested, and is reinvested indefinitely. Investors exit via a periodic tender, usually capped at about 5% per quarter.

Spot it by: no numeral, and usually the words "open-ended", "perpetual", or a ticker. ARCC, ASIF, the non-traded REITs. No numeral = probably perpetual.

THE SHORTCUT THAT WORKS ALMOST EVERY TIME

If an Ares fund has a Roman numeral after its name, it ends. If it doesn't, it probably doesn't. ACE VI will wind up and be replaced by ACE VII. ARCC has run since 2004 and has no planned end. This single rule lets you classify most of the catalogue on sight — and it is a genuinely useful thing to be able to do in front of someone.

PART 3

The container types

The legal wrappers. Each exists because a particular investor could not otherwise buy in.

CONTAINER	WHAT IT IS, IN PLAIN TERMS	WHY IT EXISTS — AND THE ARES EXAMPLE
Commingled fund the default	A private partnership. Many investors pool money; the manager invests it. Not listed, not public, minimums in the millions.	The standard institutional vehicle. Ares: SDL III, ACE VI, ASOF II, Pathfinder III.
BDC business development company	A US-regulated company that lends to mid-sized American businesses. Must distribute most of its income to shareholders.	A 1980 US law created BDCs specifically so ordinary people could invest in private companies. Ares: ARCC (listed), ASIF (non-traded).
REIT real estate investment trust	The same idea for property. Owns buildings, distributes rental income, receives tax advantages for doing so.	Lets an individual own a share of a warehouse portfolio. Ares: two US non-traded REITs, a Tokyo-listed J-REIT, and ACRE (NYSE-listed).
Interval fund	A registered fund that must offer to buy back shares at set intervals, by regulation — typically 5% of net assets per quarter.	The repurchase window is mandated rather than discretionary, which is a meaningful investor protection. Ares: CADC, run through the CION Ares Management joint venture.
CLO collateralised loan obligation	A vehicle holding a pool of loans, financed in layers of differing risk. Safer layers get paid first.	An efficient way to finance a large loan portfolio. Ares manages over 100 such vehicles; they produce roughly 2–3% of total management fees.
SMA separately managed account	A portfolio run for one investor, built to their specification, rather than a pooled fund.	Large institutions want control, transparency and bespoke terms. $139.6bn — 30% of Ares' institutional AUM.
Co-investment vehicle	A side pot letting an investor put extra money into one specific deal, alongside the main fund.	Usually offered at reduced or zero fees, as a reward to large investors. Ares: "Ares PE Co-Invest" appears in the subsidiary list.
ELTIF European Long-Term Investment Fund	An EU wrapper designed so individual Europeans can access private assets across borders.	Without it, selling a private credit fund to retail investors in multiple EU states is impractical. Ares: the Open-Ended European Direct Lending ELTIF.
SPAC special purpose acquisition company	A listed shell that raises money first and finds a company to merge with later.	Largely a 2020–21 phenomenon. Ares: AAC II became Kodiak AI (Nasdaq: KDK) in September 2025.
Feeder fund	A fund whose main job is to invest into another fund, usually to serve a different investor base or jurisdiction.	Ares: AUSIF — formerly ADSIF, renamed in May 2026 — invests roughly 80% into ASIF.

Container definitions are general industry usage; the Ares examples are from the FY2025 10-K, Exhibit 21.1 and fund-level filings.

PART 4

Decoding any Ares fund name

The acronym key. Learn this page and the catalogue stops looking like alphabet soup.

Worked example: "ACE VI Levered (EUR)"

ACE	VI	Levered	(EUR)
The family Ares Capital Europe — European direct lending	The vintage The sixth one. 2022. A numeral means it ends.	The sleeve Borrows to buy more. Higher return, higher risk.	The currency class Returns differ by currency after hedging costs.

Why the last two matter: ACE VI returned 12.3% gross / 8.8% net unlevered but 18.6% / 13.2% levered. Same loans, different sleeve.
For SDL III, dollar investors saw 12.9%/9.6% while sterling investors saw 13.8%/10.3%. "What did the fund return?" is never a complete question.

5.1 US direct lending — $189.6bn

AUSIF	Feeder fund	EVERGREEN	—	Renamed from ADSIF in May 2026. Invests roughly 80% into ASIF, serving a different investor base.
Ivy Hill (IHAM)	Asset manager	NEITHER	$16.3bn	Not a fund. An SEC-registered asset manager running 24 vehicles, wholly owned by ARCC under 2012 SEC exemptive relief.

5.2 European direct lending — $84.7bn

What it does: the same model across Europe, for companies with roughly €10m to over €250m of earnings, covering 435+ sponsors. Harder to build than the US business because every country has its own legal and insolvency system — which is exactly why it is a moat.

FUND	CONTAINER	SHAPE	AUM	NOTES

5.3 Alternative credit — $48.1bn

FUND	CONTAINER	SHAPE	AUM	NOTES

100+ CLOs	CLO	STRUCTURED	—	Part of the $53.1bn liquid credit business. Roughly 2–3% of total management fees.

Dashes mean the vehicle is named in Ares' filings but its AUM is not separately disclosed — Ares only breaks out "significant funds" above a materiality threshold. Returns as at 31 December 2025, net of fees, annualised. Past performance is not indicative of future results.

Ada Infrastructure	Operating platform	NOT A FUND	—	A brand, not a vehicle. Ares' in-house data centre development and operating business, with roughly 1 gigawatt of compute capacity across seven campuses.

PART 7

The catalogue — Secondaries, Private Equity and Other

The smaller three. Secondaries is the highest-margin growth engine; private equity is the smallest group.

7.1 Secondaries — $42.1bn

What "secondaries" means. Buying an existing investor's stake in somebody else's fund, second-hand. If a pension scheme committed to a 2018 buyout fund and now wants out early, a secondaries buyer purchases their stake — usually at a discount. Ares entered this business by buying Landmark Partners in 2021 for about $1.08bn.

FUND	CONTAINER	SHAPE	AUM	NOTES
APMF	Tender-offer fund	EVERGREEN	$5.0bn	Ares Private Markets Fund, launched 2022. 14.2% net annualised — the best of the perpetual set. 1.40% of total assets.
LEP XVI	Commingled	CLOSED-END	$4.1bn	Landmark Equity Partners XVI, 2016 vintage. 8.6% net IRR. Note the numeral: sixteen generations of this fund family.
Ares Credit Secondaries Fund	Commingled	CLOSED-END	—	Buys second-hand stakes in credit funds. $4.9bn strategy across five funds. The buyer-side of the ACE IV stake sale.
Real estate secondaries	Commingled	CLOSED-END	$8.2bn	25+ funds and co-investment vehicles.
Infrastructure secondaries	Commingled	CLOSED-END	$6.9bn	15+ funds.

7.2 Private Equity — $25.3bn

The smallest group and the only one that has shrunk as a share of the firm — from a co-equal pillar in 2019 to 4% of AUM today.

FUND	CONTAINER	SHAPE	AUM	NOTES
ACOF VII	Commingled	CLOSED-END	—	Ares Corporate Opportunities Fund VII — the current flagship buyout fund. Growth buyouts of mid-market services businesses.
ACOF VI	Commingled	CLOSED-END	—	The prior vintage.
ACOF V	Commingled	CLOSED-END	—	Harvesting.
Ares Asia Private Equity Fund III	Commingled	CLOSED-END	—	APAC private equity, inherited from the 2020 SSG Capital acquisition. Consumer, healthcare and services.
Ares PE Co-Invest	Co-investment	CLOSED-END	—	Lets investors put extra money into individual deals alongside the main funds.

7.3 Other businesses — $9.1bn

ENTITY	WHAT IT IS	SHAPE	SIZE	NOTES
Ares Insurance Solutions	In-house team	NOT A FUND	$25.9bn	Manages money for insurance clients. Of that, $16.9bn is sub-advised back into Ares funds. Insurance money across the whole platform totals $86.5bn.
Aspida Aspida Life, Aspida Re	Partner insurer	NOT A FUND	—	A life and annuity business Ares serves as investment manager. Capitalised largely with third-party money — over $2.3bn of equity commitments raised in January 2025.
AAC II	SPAC	COMPLETED	—	Ares Acquisition Corporation II. Merged with Kodiak Robotics in September 2025 and became Kodiak AI (Nasdaq: KDK).
BootstrapLabs / AI & Innovation Group	Venture capital	PLATFORM	—	Acquired February 2024. An applied-AI venture investor with 30+ portfolio companies, now Ares' internal AI capability.

PART 8

Which of these never end

The evergreen subset, pulled out of the catalogue and ranked.

Of everything above, these are the vehicles with no end date. They matter disproportionately because 93% of Ares' management fees come from perpetual capital or long-dated funds.

VEHICLE	GROUP	CONTAINER	AUM	NET RETURN SINCE INCEPTION	BASE FEE
ARCC	Credit	Listed BDC	$35.9bn	12.0%	1.50% of total assets ex-cash
ASIF	Credit	Non-traded BDC	$24.3bn	10.9%	1.25% of NAV
CADC	Credit	Interval fund	$8.7bn	7.0%	1.25%
Industrial non-traded REIT	Real Assets	Non-traded REIT	$7.6bn	8.5%	1.25% of NAV
J-REIT	Real Assets	Listed REIT (Tokyo)	$7.5bn	13.3%	Three-part formula
Open-ended core alternative credit fund	Credit	Open-ended	$7.5bn	8.8%	0.50%–1.50%
Diversified non-traded REIT	Real Assets	Non-traded REIT	$7.4bn	6.5%	1.10% of NAV
Open-ended European DL fund	Credit	Open-ended	$6.4bn	9.6%	1.25% of NAV
US open-ended industrial RE fund	Real Assets	Open-ended	$6.0bn	13.3%	—
APMF	Secondaries	Tender-offer fund	$5.0bn	14.2%	1.40% of total assets
Japanese open-ended industrial RE fund	Real Assets	Open-ended	$3.9bn	11.8%	—
Open-Ended Core Infrastructure Fund	Real Assets	Open-ended BDC	—	—	1.25% of NAV
Open-Ended SME Opportunities Fund	Credit	Open-ended	—	—	1.40% of NAV
Open-Ended European DL ELTIF	Credit	ELTIF	—	—	1.25% of NAV
ACRE	Real Assets	Listed REIT	—	—	1.50% of equity
ARDC	Credit	Listed CEF	—	—	1.00%
AUSIF	Credit	Feeder	—	—	—

Returns annualised, net of fees, as at 31 December 2025. Past performance is not indicative of future results.

THREE PATTERNS IN THIS TABLE

1. The oldest vehicles have the best returns. ARCC (2004) at 12.0% and the J-REIT (2012) at 13.3% have compounded through multiple cycles uninterrupted. That is the core argument for perpetual structures.

2. The retail product is cheaper than the listed one. ARCC charges 1.50% on total assets with a 20% Part I fee; ASIF charges 1.25% on NAV with 12.5%. Most people assume the opposite.

3. "Evergreen" is not the same as "retail". Of Ares' $223.3bn of perpetual capital, only about a third sits in wealth vehicles. The rest is institutional — private commingled funds, listed vehicles and separately managed accounts, many for insurers.

PART 9

One-page reference card

If you memorise one page of this document, make it this one.

The six funds to know by name

1. ARCC — the listed BDC, 2004, $35.9bn, ~31% of Credit Group fees. The crown jewel.
2. ASIF — the non-traded BDC, 2023, $24.3bn. The wealth flagship, and the one that pro-rated tenders in 2026.
3. SDL III — US senior direct lending, 2023, ~$33.6bn total capital base. Among the largest direct lending funds ever raised.
4. ACE VI — European direct lending, 2022, $24.7bn. The European moat.
5. Pathfinder III — asset-based finance, closed $8.5bn in June 2026, oversubscribed against a $6.5bn target.
6. APMF — secondaries, evergreen, 14.2% net since 2022. Best return of the perpetual set.

The five rules for reading any fund

1. Roman numeral = it ends. No numeral = probably perpetual.
2. Always ask gross or net. SDL III levered: 24.6% gross, 17.3% net.
3. Always ask levered or unlevered. Same fund, 12.9% versus 24.6% gross.
4. Always ask which currency class. SDL III: 9.6% net in USD, 10.3% in GBP.
5. Check the vintage. A 2023 fund is barely realised; judging it on IRR alone is premature.

Scale, in one line each

Credit	$406.9bn	65% of the firm. Direct lending alone is $274.3bn — 44% of everything.
Real Assets	$139.1bn	22%. Nearly doubled by the 2025 GCP acquisition.
Secondaries	$42.1bn	7%. Built from the 2021 Landmark purchase. Fastest-growing margin.
Private Equity	$25.3bn	4%. The smallest group, and shrinking as a share.
Other	$9.1bn	Insurance, venture, legacy SPAC. Understates insurance, which is $86.5bn platform-wide.

READ BEFORE RELYING ON THIS

- This catalogue is not exhaustive, and cannot be. Ares runs over 300 funds in Credit alone and 190+ vehicles were raised in 2025 alone. Only "significant funds" — those above a materiality threshold — get individual disclosure. What you have here is every fund Ares names, not every fund Ares runs.
- Dashes mean "not separately disclosed", not zero and not hidden. Many are perfectly large funds that fall below the disclosure threshold.
- Some acronym expansions are inferred from subsidiary naming conventions rather than spelled out by Ares — AREOF and EIP in particular. The widely-used ones (ACE, ACOF, ASOF, SDL, ARCC, ASIF) are confirmed in the filings.
- A few entries are not funds at all and are marked as such: Ivy Hill is an asset manager, Marq Logistics and Ada Infrastructure are operating platforms, AREX is a tax programme, and Aspida is a partner insurer.
- Returns are as at 31 December 2025, annualised and net of fees unless labelled gross. Past performance is not indicative of future results. Ares reports Q3 2026 on 29 October 2026.
- Where a fund has levered and unlevered sleeves or multiple currency classes, the figure shown is one of several. Always establish which before quoting.
