

COMPLETE INTERVIEW RESEARCH PACK

J.P. Morgan Global Private Bank Advisor Summer Internship 2027, London

The role decoded, the team mapped, the firm explained from the inside, the industry from zero, the competitive landscape, why the firm is built the way it is, what is happening now, the interview process, a question bank, a scenario playbook, a CV grill, a cheat sheet, a glossary and a full source table. Built only from public, sourced material.

Firm: JPMorgan Chase & Co.; the Private Bank operates in London through JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. London Branch and J.P. Morgan SE London Branch (see Part 2 for entities and regulators). Address on the posting: 60 Victoria Embankment, London EC4Y 0JP.

Role: 2027 Global Private Bank Advisor Summer Internship Program, London. Requisition 210773470. Posted 1 September 2026; applications close 1 November 2026, filled on a rolling basis.

Stage: Application and HireVue pending. No interview date, interviewer names or coordinator were supplied; Part 9 gives the process with confidence levels and Part 10 covers the interviewer types and the public UK leadership instead of named biographies.

Candidate (assumed from the brief): penultimate-year student graduating 2028; prior knowledge of private banking 0 out of 10; visual learner; wants to answer "why J.P. Morgan, why the Private Bank, why the Advisor track" with mechanism, not adjectives.

Prepared: 11 September 2026. 43 figures. Every non-obvious claim carries a source marker [S12] resolving to Part 15. Confidence tags: CONFIRMED primary source or two credible outlets; REPORTED single credible source; INFERRED the author's reasoning.

PART 0

How to use this pack, and the 10-minute emergency version

Read this page first. Then choose the route that matches how much time you have.

How this pack is built

This is one document in sixteen parts. Parts 1 to 8 are knowledge: the role, the firm, the industry, the competition and the arguments on both sides. Parts 9 to 13 are performance: the process, the question bank, the interviewer briefing, the scenario playbook and the cheat sheet. Parts 14 to 16 are reference: glossary, sources and gaps. Every non-obvious factual claim carries a source marker like ^[S300] that resolves to the source table in Part 15, and a confidence tag where the claim is not from a primary source. Nothing is invented; where the evidence is thin the text says so, and Part 16 lists what could not be found.

Five kinds of box appear throughout:

KEY TERM

A definition, in plain English, the first time a term appears. The glossary in Part 14 collects them.

SAY THIS IN THE INTERVIEW

A phrasing that turns a fact in the pack into something you can say aloud. Scaffolds, not scripts.

DON'T SAY THIS

A common line that sounds fine and lands badly, with the reason.

YOUR OPINION GOES HERE

A place where the pack gives both sides and you must decide. Interviewers at this firm reward a defended view over a safe one.

SOURCE UNCERTAIN

A claim that rests on a single or secondary source, a forum, or an estimate.

Three reading routes

Time	Route
10 minutes	The emergency version below, then Figure 1 (the master diagram) and the cheat sheet in Part 13.
2 hours	Part 1 (the role), Part 3 (why the firm is built this way), Part 12 (why J.P. Morgan in three lengths), Part 9 (the process and the question bank), Part 13.
A weekend	Everything in order. Then do the CV grill drill in Part 11 for every bullet on your CV, and write your own answers to the three "your opinion goes here" boxes in Part 8.

The 10-minute emergency version

1 The job

You are applying to become the client-facing relationship banker at J.P. Morgan's Private Bank, which serves families with roughly ten million pounds or dollars upward. J.P. Morgan calls the seat "Advisor". You would win families, understand their whole financial life, and bring in the firm's specialists (an Investor for the portfolio, a Capital Advisor for lending, a Wealth Advisor for trusts and tax) to serve them. It is a relationship and sales job with technical content, inside a team, not a solo investing job [\[S1\]\[S13\]\[S28\]](#).

2 The firm in one line

JPMorgan Chase is the largest bank in the world by market value: $185.6bn of revenue and $57.0bn of profit in 2025, about 320,000 people, 66 countries, run since 2005 by Jamie Dimon [\[S300\]](#). Its three businesses are Chase (US consumers), the Commercial & Investment Bank (companies and institutions) and Asset & Wealth Management (AWM), where the Private Bank sits. AWM earned $24.1bn of revenue and a 40% return on equity in 2025; the Private Bank is half of it [\[S300\]](#).

3 The mechanism that makes it different

Four things, each with a number. The referral engine: the investment bank sells a founder's company, the founder becomes a Private Bank client; "2,000 private banking clients walk into the Chase branches every day"; over 95% of AWM's top 50 clients use other parts of the firm [\[S320\]\[S316\]](#). The balance sheet: $266bn of Private Bank loans, 97% collateralised, losses of one basis point a year [\[S300\]\[S318\]\[S319\]](#). The apprenticeship: "we seed books of business, we don't buy them"; half of advisors are home-grown; advisors went from 2,500 to 4,101 in five years [\[S317\]\[S320\]\[S316\]](#). The global model: "the only private bank in the industry with a uniform business model globally", run for the international business from London, with Europe named as the biggest opportunity to gain share [\[S316\]\[S24\]](#).

4 What they are selecting for

The posting's own words: "relationship building and sales capacity", "genuine interest in financial markets and macro-level economic trends", "exceptional interpersonal, communication, logical thinking and problem-solving skills", "good judgment and discretion when working with confidential information" [\[S1\]](#). Erdoes' words: the first lesson in training is "banking is not a commodity"; the goal is that "every advisor operate like our very best and every client feel like our only one" [\[S318\]\[S316\]](#).

5 The process

Online application (closes 1 November 2026, rolling, apply early), a HireVue video interview of three to five recorded questions with about two minutes per answer, then interviews in London reported as three behavioural and commercial conversations. No technical tests are reported for the Private Bank; working knowledge of current markets is expected [\[S1\]\[S353\]\[S358\]](#).

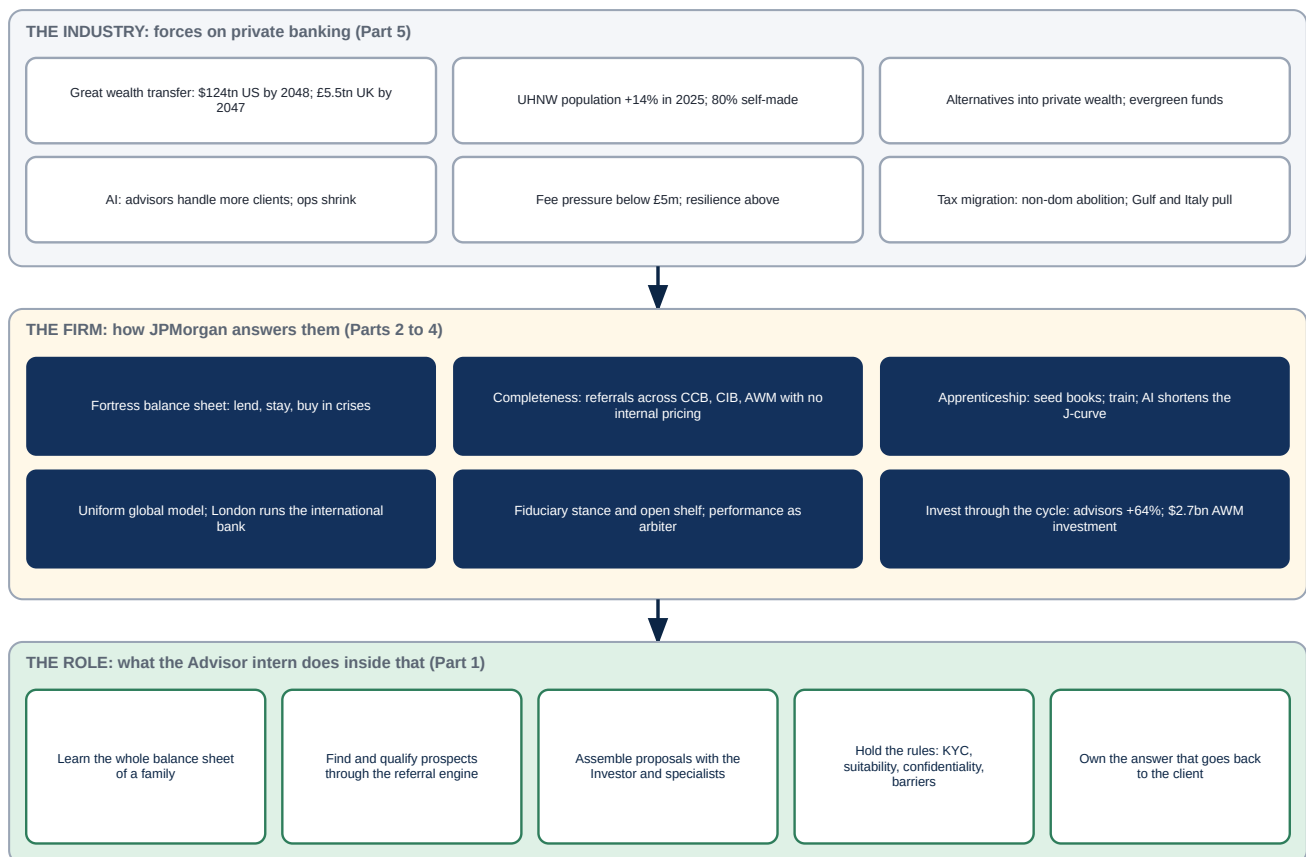

6 Your thirty-second "why"

See Part 12. The shape: one mechanism you can explain (the referral engine, the apprenticeship or the balance sheet), one number, one thing about you that fits it, and one specific thing you want to work on in London (for example, the UK team's work with families reconsidering residence after the April 2025 non-dom changes [\[S30\]\[S31\]](#)).

7 The one sentence for any scenario

Rules and the firm's name first; the client's outcome second; the process and the record third; speed last. "I'd rather be slow and right than fast and wrong, and I'd tell you that to your face." Part 11 gives the method.

THE MASTER DIAGRAM: FIRM, INDUSTRY, ROLE

Sources: Parts 1 to 5 of this pack; each box is expanded with sources in the relevant part.

The role, decoded line by line, and the team mapped

Every duty line in the posting, what it actually involves, who the counterparties are, what "good" looks like, and what it reveals about how the firm is built. Then the team around the seat.

1.1 The posting, line by line

The posting is short and non-technical, which is itself a signal: the firm is hiring for trainability and disposition, not for finished skills. Each line below is quoted, then decoded ^[S1].

"Our advisors help clients achieve their financial goals by delivering the right solutions and services across our industry leading investments, credit, banking and Trust & Estates practices."

What it involves. Four product areas, one relationship. "Investments" means portfolios run by the Investor; "credit" means lending against portfolios, property and other assets run by the Capital Advisor; "banking" means deposits, payments and foreign exchange; "Trust & Estates" means the structures through which wealth passes between generations, run by the Wealth Advisor ^{[S3][S4][S5]}. Who. The client family and the four specialist seats. Good looks like. A client who uses all four, because the firm's own disclosure is that when a US Private Bank client also actively banks with it, assets and revenue are on average 65% higher, and that only 2% of clients are credit-only ^[S319]. Structural fact. The Private Bank is deliberately a bank, not just an adviser: the balance sheet is part of the product.

KEY TERM: TRUST & ESTATES

A trust is a legal arrangement in which one party (the trustee) holds assets for others (the beneficiaries) under rules set by the person who created it. An estate is everything a person owns at death. "Trust and estate planning" is the work of arranging who gets what, when, and with how much tax, before the question becomes urgent.

"This individualized attention supports our clients' unique goals and helps build, preserve and manage their wealth over time."

What it involves. The firm's planning framework has four "lenses": Liquidity (cash for the near term), Lifestyle (spending), Legacy (heirs and philanthropy) and Growth (long-term appreciation) ^[S32]. "Individualized" means there is no model portfolio pushed at everyone; the Investor builds from the family's goals. Good looks like. A written plan the family recognises as theirs. Structural fact. Advice is the product; the fee is charged on assets, not per transaction, so the firm earns when the relationship lasts.

"As a future Advisor, you'll work with our team of advisors and specialists to bring in new clients and to serve existing ones."

What it involves. This is the sentence that defines the seat. Two channels: bringing in new clients (prospecting, referrals, pitching) and serving existing ones (reviews, problems, life events). The UK Client Advisor posting at Executive Director level lists the same two duties in adult form: "generate business results and acquire new assets" and lead "new client acquisition and retention" ^[S13]. Who. Bankers on your team, the shared specialists, and the internal referral sources: the investment bank, the commercial bank and the Chase branches ^[S320]. Good looks like. Net new assets and new clients on the team's scorecard. Structural fact. "Team of advisors and specialists" confirms the integrated team model rather than a lone-banker model (Figure on team versus alternative in Part 3).

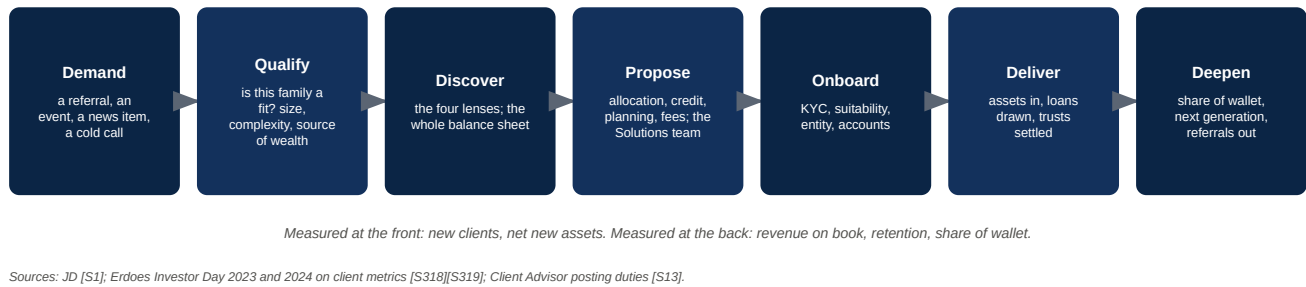

Figure 2. The role's value chain from internal demand to outcome. The intern touches every step but owns none of them yet.

"We deliver highly customized and comprehensive solutions to help protect, manage and grow wealth."

What it involves. "Comprehensive" is code for the whole balance sheet: assets, liabilities, entities, residences, family. "Protect" includes diversification away from the single stock a founder holds, currency, and, increasingly, cyber advice, which the EMEA wealth planning page lists explicitly [S5]. Structural fact. The firm competes on breadth. A boutique cannot lend, custody, execute, structure and advise in ten currencies from one relationship.

"No client has identical goals, so understanding their unique needs and tailoring our approach to exceed expectations requires work across teams and the firm to provide first-class service."

What it involves. Discovery conversations, then coordination. "Across teams and the firm" points at the referral engine and at the specialists. "First-class" is a quotation from J.P. Morgan Jr.'s 1933 Senate testimony ("first-class business in a first-class way") that the firm still uses [S324]. Good looks like. The Advisor knows enough of every discipline to ask the right specialist the right question, and owns the answer that goes back.

"Our nine-week program kicks off with a week of induction, where you'll have training and orientation to our businesses and gain the technical and practical knowledge you'll need to start contributing to our teams."

What it involves. One week of classroom: the firm's businesses, compliance and conduct, systems, the team model, products. Then eight weeks placed with a team. The Hong Kong version of the same programme uses identical wording, which suggests a global template [S15]. Structural fact. The programme is a global pipeline; the full-time Advisor Analyst programme that follows opens with a five-week global training school [S17].

"Top performers may receive a full-time offer at the end of the summer."

What it involves. The internship is a nine-week interview. Conversion rates are not published; Part 9 gives what is reported. Structural fact. Erdoes says half of new advisors are grown from within and that "25-year-olds" now match mid-career hires in productivity, so the intern pipeline is the firm's preferred source of advisors, not an afterthought [S320].

Responsibility: "Work with our teams to understand client needs and examine market activities to develop and execute strategies that help clients meet their financial goals."

What it involves. Reading the house view (Eye on the Market, the Outlook, weekly Top Market Takeaways [S35][S36]), translating it for a specific family, and helping the Investor turn it into portfolio changes. Good looks like. You can explain why a rise in UK gilt yields matters to a client with a £20m interest-only mortgage. Structural fact. The house view is centralised (the Global Investment Strategy team, co-led from London by Grace Peters [S37]); the Advisor personalises it.

Responsibility: "Work with a team of bankers, investment specialists, wealth advisors, and lending specialists. Throughout the summer, you'll learn about our business and our clients while building your own expertise."

What it involves. The four seats named in the firm's own words: bankers (Advisors), investment specialists (Investors), wealth advisors, lending specialists (Capital Advisors) ^{[S1][S28]}. Structural fact. The seat you are applying for is "banker". The Investment Solutions internship, advertised separately in London, is the route into the specialist seats ^[S16].

Responsibility: "Collaborate with various teams, including but not limited to market strategy, equity, and alternative investment teams to conduct research and analysis, develop products and respond to client needs as part of a Solutions Team."

What it involves. The project. In practice a research or proposal deliverable built with the strategy, equities and alternatives specialists and presented to senior bankers. "Alternative investment teams" is a pointer to the firm's largest differentiator: over $200bn of alternatives in the Private Bank, about $2bn a month placed, 850+ external managers on the platform ^{[S25][S320]}. Good looks like. A deliverable a banker could use in front of a client without rewriting it.

KEY TERM: ALTERNATIVES

Investments that are not listed shares, bonds or cash: private equity (buying whole companies), private credit (lending to companies outside the bond market), hedge funds, real estate, infrastructure. Illiquid (your money is locked up for years), higher fee, and sold on returns and diversification.

Responsibility: "Continuously learn through one-on-one mentorship, learning sessions and ongoing events to grow your professional network."

What it involves. A mentor, a speaker series, and events. Erdoes' 2025 letter says the Private Bank runs "850+ events" for advisor engagement in a year ^[S316]. Good looks like. Senior people remember you, because you asked one good question and followed up.

Qualifications: the disposition list

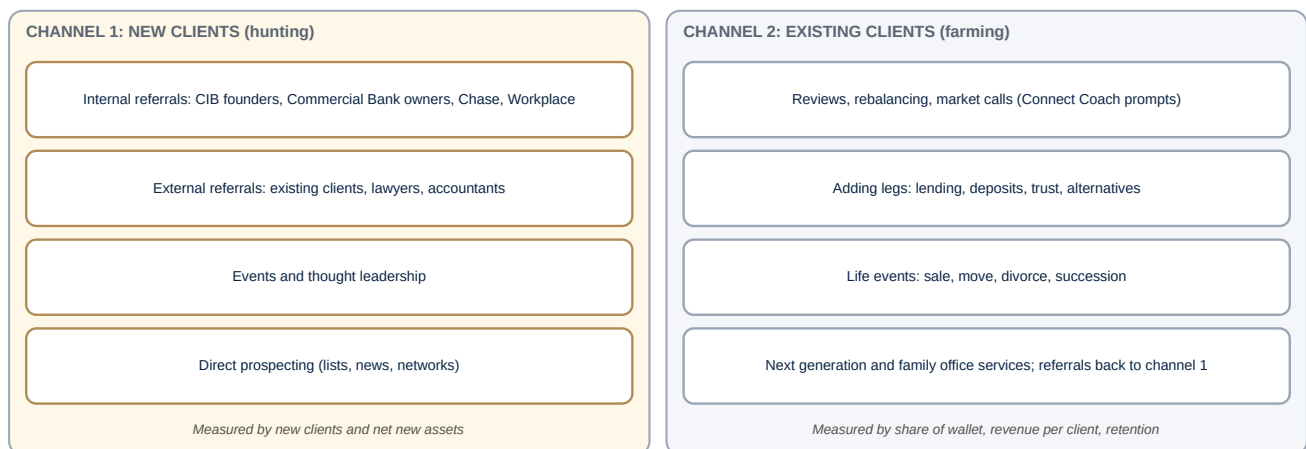

The posting says	What it is testing, and how it shows up
"Highly driven person who enjoys working in teams to develop complex solutions"	Sales resilience plus collaboration. The job has a long run of "no" before the first "yes". "Complex solutions" means multi-disciplinary, not mathematically hard.
"Exceptional interpersonal, communication, logical thinking and problem-solving skills"	Can you hold a conversation with a 60-year-old founder and then write a clear page for the Investor? The HireVue is the first filter for this ^[S353] .
"Excellent organizational skills and ability to multitask"	The analyst's day is fragments: a client call, a KYC chase, two slides, a prospect list (see the worked day below).
"Genuine interest in financial markets and macro-level economic trends"	The reported HireVue and interview questions ask for a recent market article and your view ^{[S358][S353]} . "Genuine" means you read because you want to.
"Desire to ultimately work with external clients in a relationship building and sales capacity"	The most honest line in the posting. If you do not want to sell, do not apply for this seat; apply for Investment Solutions.
"Ability to thrive in a fast-paced, collaborative environment"	Erdoes on early careers: "burn the candle at both ends" to reach mastery fast ^[S334] .
"Highly inquisitive, focused and considerate"	Curiosity about people and markets; focus on the client in front of you; consideration for colleagues (no credit-counting, see Part 3).
"Good judgment and discretion when working with confidential information"	The compliance dimension. See 1.6 below. This is a hiring criterion because the job exposes you to source-of-wealth files, family disputes and, sometimes, information about listed companies.

1.2 A realistic worked day in the seat

07:30	Read overnight markets; Top Market Takeaways; Eye on the Market if new
08:00	Team huddle; morning markets meeting; Connect Coach flags three clients under-exposed to a theme
08:45	Prep for 10:00: pull portfolio report, check the loan-to-value on the Lombard facility, update the meeting brief
10:00	Client meeting with the banker and investor: quarterly review; the client raises a house purchase
11:30	Debrief; open a credit request; email the Capital Advisor; log notes in CRM
12:30	Lunch with an associate; or a learning session (alternatives, trusts)
14:00	Prospect research: three families in the news; a founder whose company the investment bank just sold
15:30	KYC: chase a source-of-wealth document; suitability form for a new mandate
16:30	Build two slides for tomorrow's pitch; check figures with the Investor
18:00	Event: the team hosts a founders' dinner; the intern takes names and follow-ups
20:00	Home. Read the Outlook chapter you were asked about.

1.3 The full taxonomy of what the function does

Activity family	Formats and examples	Who else is involved
Prospecting and origination	Referral follow-up; centre-of-influence meetings with lawyers and accountants; founder and family events; research on families in the news; cold approaches; pitch meetings; the written proposal	Referring bankers in CIB, Commercial Bank, Chase; marketing and events; the Investor for the proposal

Discovery and planning	Balance-sheet mapping; the four lenses; goals-based plan; pre-liquidity planning for founders (12 to 24 months before a sale)	Wealth Advisor; Private Business Advisory (US); the client's own lawyers and accountants
Investment advice	Strategic and tactical allocation; discretionary, advisory or brokerage mandates; alternatives programme; structured notes; hedging concentrated stock; 10b5-1 sale programmes for US executives	Investor; Global Investment Strategy; Alternatives; Markets desks
Lending	Mortgages on prime property; securities-based (Lombard) loans; specialty lending on aircraft, art, fund interests and private shares; sports-team finance	Capital Advisor; credit underwriting; legal
Banking	Deposits; multi-currency accounts; payments; FX; custody; reporting across banks	Client Service Associate; Payments; operations
Trust, estate and family	Trusts; wills; corporate trustee services; philanthropy structures; family governance and constitutions; next-generation programmes	Wealth Advisor; the Trust company; the Philanthropy Centre
Client service and control	Onboarding and KYC; suitability records; annual reviews; account maintenance; complaint handling; CRM	CSA; compliance; operations

1.4 Internal clients and external counterparties, concretely

External

- The family: principal, spouse, adult children, sometimes a family office CEO or CIO.
- The family's advisers: private client lawyers (trusts, residence), accountants, corporate finance advisers, art advisers.
- Other banks: most UHNW families use two to four; you are competing for share of wallet [\[S200\]](#).
- Counterparties in a transaction: the buyer of the founder's company; the vendor of the house.
- Regulators, indirectly: everything you write may be read by the FCA in a review.

Internal

- Your banker team lead and the market head.
- The Investor, Capital Advisor, Wealth Advisor and CSA on your clients.
- Referring bankers in the Commercial & Investment Bank and Chase, and Workplace (Global Shares) [\[S320\]](#).
- Global Investment Strategy, Manager Selection, Alternatives, Trading desks.
- Credit underwriting, compliance, KYC operations, legal.
- The business manager who runs the team's numbers and controls.

Why the relationship role exists: the client needs one accountable person who holds the whole picture. Counterparty list from the JD and services pages [S1][S3][S5].

1.5 What the team is judged on

Measure	Definition	Evidence from the firm
Net new assets (net flows)	Money in minus money out, excluding market moves.	AWM's headline metric: $553bn in 2025; "clients vote with their feet" [S316][S312].
New clients	Households or families onboarded.	"Net new GPB clients tripled" over five years to 2021; "four $100m clients a day" in 2023 [S312][S318].
Revenue on book and per banker	Fees plus spread earned on the team's clients.	Revenue per producer ~$3m (2023); revenue per average banker +15% 2020 to 2025 [S318][S316].
Share of wallet	Fraction of the family's total wealth held with the firm; number of "legs" (investments, deposits, loans, trust).	+65% assets and revenue when clients actively bank; 2% credit-only [S319].
Retention	Clients still with the firm a year later.	">95% don't leave" [S318].
Referrals given and received	Introductions to and from other lines of business.	~3,000 Private Bank referrals to Chase Wealth Management in 2023; no internal pricing [S320].
Controls	KYC completeness, suitability records, complaints, conduct.	Business Principles 5, 6 and 11 [S323]; the Consumer Duty [S206].

SAY THIS IN THE INTERVIEW

"As I understand it, the team is measured on net new assets, new clients and how many parts of a family's balance sheet it serves, and the firm's own number is that clients who also bank with it are worth about 65% more. So the job is not selling a product; it is becoming the primary bank."

1.6 The compliance and control dimension

A private banker is a regulated person doing a regulated activity for clients who are, in law, mostly "retail clients" with the highest protection. The bright lines an intern must know unprompted:

- Confidentiality. Client information is never discussed outside the team, including with friends, and never used for personal benefit. The posting makes "discretion" a hiring criterion [S1].

- Know Your Customer and source of wealth. Before a client is onboarded the bank must document who they are and how they made their money; before a deposit is accepted, where that money came from. Politically exposed persons and complex structures trigger enhanced checks [S199]. No account is opened "now, documents later".
- Suitability. Under MiFID II (in force 3 January 2018) and the FCA rules, an investment recommendation must fit the client's knowledge, financial situation and objectives, and the firm must record why [S215]. An intern never gives investment advice to a client; the Advisor and Investor do, and they are qualified and certified to.
- Consumer Duty. Since 31 July 2023 UK firms must deliver "good outcomes" for retail clients across products, price and value, understanding and support, and avoid "foreseeable harm" [S206]. This is why proposals are written in plain language and fees are shown.
- Information barriers and market abuse. The Private Bank sits next to an investment bank. Non-public information about a deal or an issuer must not cross to the Private Bank, and if it does by accident, the rule is stop, tell compliance, do not act or repeat. Part 11 has the decision tree.
- Credit discipline. Never promise a loan; the credit committee decides. Erdoes: "we want two ways out" [S318].
- Conduct rules. Under the Senior Managers and Certification Regime every employee is bound by conduct rules (act with integrity; act with due skill, care and diligence; be open and cooperative with regulators; pay due regard to customers' interests; observe proper standards of market conduct). Part 6 gives the dates.

SAY THIS IN THE INTERVIEW, UNPROMPTED IF THE TOPIC IS NEAR

"I'd assume everything I see is confidential, that I never open anything without the KYC being complete, and that if I hear something about a listed company that isn't public I stop and tell compliance before I do anything else."

1.7 A realistic career path from this seat

Stage	What it is	Evidence and confidence
Summer intern (9 weeks)	Placed with a team; project; conversion decision.	[S1] CONFIRMED
Advisor Analyst (about 2 years)	Five-week global training; rotations across investments, lending, banking, trust and estate; UK Level 4 qualification (typically CISI) funded; London, Manchester or Edinburgh.	[S17][S359][S361] CONFIRMED ; exam detail REPORTED
Associate (about 2 to 4 years)	Chosen track: Banker (Advisor) or Investor. Own smaller relationships; run proposals; start prospecting.	Forum accounts [S357] REPORTED ; "many full-time Analysts are promoted to Associates" [S17] CONFIRMED

Vice President banker	A book of your own; targets on net new assets and revenue; productivity "doubles after a year" and break-even by year three per Erdoes [S317].	CONFIRMED for the economics; titles INFERRED
Executive Director / Managing Director	Largest relationships; "player-coach" team leadership [S9]; market head roles (UK North, UK Domestic, FIG, Institutional Wealth) [S7].	CONFIRMED that such roles exist
Beyond	Region head (the current UK head came from running Mexico [S19]); International Private Bank CEO (Adam Tejpal ran Latin America and Asia investments [S11]); or out to a rival, a family office, or a multi-family office.	CONFIRMED career paths of named leaders

Two honest cautions. First, the exit options from private banking into investment banking or private equity are narrow; the skills are relationship and advisory, not modelling [S201]. Second, the first two to three years are support work with a long sales runway; Erdoes' own framing is an "apprenticeship model" with break-even in year three [S317].

1.8 The team mapped

The firm publishes no org chart. What follows is reconstructed from job postings (the set of open roles is an org chart in disguise), the firm's leadership and office pages, regulator registers and trade press. Confidence is colour-coded on the chart and stated in the text.

1.8.1 Where the team sits

JPMorgan Chase → Asset & Wealth Management (CEO Mary Callahan Erdoes) → Global Private Bank (Global CEO David Frame since 3 July 2025; Executive Chairman Andrew L. Cohen) → International Private Bank (CEO Adam Tejpaal, London) → EMEA Private Bank (CEO Pablo Garnica, Madrid) → three regions: the UK, Channel Islands and Ireland under Maricé Brown; Continental Europe under Sarah Catania (Milan, from September 2025); Switzerland, the Middle East and emerging markets under Karim Rekik [S54][S57][S63][S64][S61][S65]. A marketing posting states the positioning in the firm's own words: "The J.P. Morgan Private Bank sits within Global Wealth Management, a division of Asset & Wealth Management, and is focused on working with ultra-high net worth (UHNW) individuals, families, and foundations" [S48]. Every EMEA campus posting repeats: "more than 17 offices across 11 countries" [S46][S47].

Offices in the UK. London at 60 Victoria Embankment is the client-facing hub; Manchester (Landmark, 1 Oxford Street) opened in June 2023; an Edinburgh advisor team was added in February 2024; Glasgow is mainly the technology and operations campus (about 2,600 staff) with Edinburgh at about 1,400, where "Private Bank, Payments and post-trade Securities Services" also operate; Bournemouth is a corporate-functions campus with no Private Bank front-office postings found [\[S55\]](#)[\[S59\]](#)[\[S67\]](#)[\[S376\]](#).

1.8.2 The UK team leads the firm names

The London office page lists seven Managing Directors as team leads. All are public professional information from the firm's own pages or trade press; nothing personal is recorded [\[S55\]](#).

Name	Title as written	Public professional background	Confidence
Maricé Brown	Region Head, UK, Channel Islands & Ireland	Appointed June 2025 succeeding Oliver Gregson, who became CEO of Schroders Wealth Management. 18+ years at the Private Bank; previously Market Manager for Mexico and earlier Central Texas and a Silicon Valley team; MBA (Darden), Universidad de Lima. Leads "a team across London, Manchester, Edinburgh, and Glasgow" [S56] [S19] [S373] . Press report (snippet only): wants to add about 30 people a year and double the regional business in five years [S66] .	CONFIRMED role; REPORTED targets
Diana Robinson	Head of Investments & Advice, UK, Ireland & Channel Islands	Runs the Investors. Returned from leading International Private Bank investments in Asia; joined February 2016 as Head of Equities EMEA (previously RG Associates, Bank of America Merrill Lynch) [S374] [S375] .	CONFIRMED
Maya Prabhu	UK Domestic and Crown Dependencies	Leads "a team of client advisors"; about 20 years' experience; STEP Diploma faculty [S60] .	CONFIRMED
Zeynep Ozturk Unlu	Team Head, Institutional Wealth Group	Covers UK institutional wealth and family offices; 24+ years in institutional sales and trading and family offices (bio snippet) [S55] [S40] .	CONFIRMED role
Khayyam Jumani	Team Head and Senior Client Advisor, UK North	Leads "a team of specialized advisors from the Manchester office"; Executive Director when Manchester opened (June 2023); previously covered Scotland and Northern England; ex Corporate Bank strategy; IMC and Investment Advice Diploma [S59] [S67] .	CONFIRMED
Deepak Chander	Team Head	Coverage not stated on any page that could be opened.	REPORTED name only; segment unknown
Paul Ferry	Team Head, Financial Institutions Group	Joined around November 2025 from Citi Private Bank, where he ran financial-sector coverage in EMEA; earlier ICAP and Merrill Lynch; about 39 years' experience (press snippets) [S377] [S352] .	REPORTED

Specialists confirmed on the firm's pages: James Chilvers, Head of UK Wealth Advisory and business lead for International Trust Services (joined 2017 from Macfarlanes) [\[S58\]](#); Chris Ottenritter, Head of EMEA Wealth Advisory [\[S61\]](#); Steven Rees, Head of Investments for the Middle East, North Africa and Turkey [\[S61\]](#); Grace Peters, Co-Head of Global Investment Strategy, London [\[S62\]](#). Talent: Harry Monroe, Head of International Private Bank Talent Acquisition; Carly Pierpoint, Global Head of AWM Recruitment [\[S69\]](#). Not found publicly: a named UK lending or Capital Advisory head, a named EMEA alternatives head, or a named UK business manager, though the postings prove the seats exist.

1.8.3 The open postings as an org chart

Seventeen live UK Private Bank requisitions were read in full through the careers system's public data feed on 11 September 2026. The pattern is the structure [\[S40\]](#)[\[S51\]](#):

- Bankers are hired by market team: "UK Team" (London and the South) [\[S42\]](#); "UK Entrepreneurs & Executives Team" [\[S43\]](#); "UK Financial Institutions Group" [\[S41\]](#); "Institutional Wealth Group" [\[S40\]](#); and a London-based "MENAT" desk covering Middle East clients [S44]. Scotland and UK North have had their own client-advisor postings [S53].

- Every banker posting says the same two things: "Partner with internal specialists to provide interdisciplinary expertise to clients when needed" and "Partner with other Client Advisors in the team in order to maximize the team strength and achieve team goal" [S40],[S43]. The MENAT posting names the bench: "Leverage and coordinate specialists (Investor, Capital Advisor, Trust and Estate Advisor and Wealth Advisor)" [S44].
- Lending is a sales role with a credit spine: the Lending Advisor is "internal sales leader for the credit product, liaising with the Market Manager, Bankers and Investors to ensure credit is a core part of the JP Morgan offering" and must "underwrite and execute both loan and derivative structures" [S45]. A Mortgage Solutions Specialist (VP) partners "with Client Advisors and Lending Solutions on luxury residential real estate" and "with Credit Risk on underwriting" [S50].
- The two analyst pipelines are distinct: the Advisor Analyst "will work with a team of bankers, investment specialists, wealth advisors, and lending specialists"; the Investment Solutions Analyst programme "is our main source of homegrown talent and the development pipeline to subject matter experts" and sits with a "Solutions Team" [S46][S47].
- The non-client counterparts named: Market Managers and Business Managers (marketing posting) [S49]; a Head of Marketing EMEA who will "sit on the wider EMEA leadership team" (posted 11 September 2026, so the seat is open) [S48]; an AWM Regulatory Controls lead in Glasgow who builds "partnerships across the first and second lines of defense" [S51].
- Qualifications: CFA is "a plus" or "preferred" on banker postings, never required; the MENAT banker posting prefers "a certificate in Investment Management level 4" and an Arabic speaker; the mortgage role requires CeMAP [S40][S44][S50].

1.8.4 Headcount estimate, with the method shown

No UK adviser count is published. Three triangulations: (a) the reported plan to hire about 30 people a year to double the regional business in about five years implies roughly 15% annual growth on a base of perhaps 150 to 250 total UK Private Bank staff [S66]; (b) seven Managing Director team heads each running a market team that postings show spans Senior Associate to Executive Director bankers plus shared Investors, Lending and Wealth Advisors and analysts suggests 7 teams of 10 to 20, so 70 to 140 client-facing people; (c) peers: UBS says it has "more than 120 advisors" and 15,000 clients in the UK; Goldman's UK private wealth arm had about 50 advisers in 2021 [S379][S380]. Working range: about 100 to 180 client-facing professionals in the UK region, 150 to 250 including business management, client service and marketing. Confidence: low to medium. The London MENAT desk sits outside the UK region and adds to London seats.

SOURCE UNCERTAIN

The employing legal entity for UK analysts is not stated on any posting. The Private Bank's regulatory disclosures name J.P. Morgan SE London Branch as the UK deposit-taker and FSCS participant; the historic UK private-banking bank, J.P. Morgan International Bank Limited, was merged into the Luxembourg bank in 2019 and then into J.P. Morgan SE in 2022 [S71][S75][S72]. Read the footer of your own offer.

1.8.5 Peer benchmark: the equivalent UK teams

Firm (UK private banking)	Published scale	Team model as described
UBS Wealth Management UK	"more than 120 advisors", "over 15,000 clients", offices in London, Manchester, Edinburgh, Newcastle [S379]	Client advisor plus investment and wealth planning specialists; Swiss booking available
Goldman Sachs Private Wealth UK	About 50 advisers after ten external hires in 2021; no newer figure [S380]	Private wealth adviser teams; UHNW focus
Citi Private Bank London	Canary Wharf; UK, Europe and Middle East head James Holder; no headcount [S381]	"Private Banker, Investment Counsellor, and Associate Banker" per Citi's page: a three-seat version of the same model
Coutts	About 2,300 employees (2024), £58.5bn assets after 2025, 19 UK cities; now absorbing Evelyn Partners [S382][S162][S256]	Domestic private bank with current accounts and mortgages; adviser-led

Barclays Private Bank; HSBC Global Private Banking UK; Julius Baer UK	No UK adviser counts published	Barclays: UK plus Crown Dependencies, Switzerland, Dubai; HSBC folded much private banking into International Wealth and Premier Banking in 2025; Julius Baer UK runs relationship desks under a UK CEO

SAY THIS IN THE INTERVIEW

"I noticed the UK banker postings are cut by market team: UK Team for London and the South, Entrepreneurs and Executives, Financial Institutions under Paul Ferry, Institutional Wealth under Zeynep Ozturk Unlu, and a London-based Middle East desk. Which team would an intern from this programme most likely sit with?"

PART 2

The firm as a business, from the inside

The founding insight, how the money flows, the contracts the business is made of, the risk and control architecture, the strategy and mix, what being public means for research, the leadership's view of the future, recent moves, and the skeletons told straight.

2.1 The founding insight

The firm is the product of two lineages and one merger culture. J.P. Morgan descends from the New York merchant bank Drexel, Morgan & Co. (1871), which financed railways, US Steel and General Electric and acted as the de facto central bank in the panic of 1907; the firm's history page traces more than 1,200 predecessor institutions back to the Manhattan Company of 1799 ^[S78]. Chase descends from Chase National Bank and Chemical Bank, retail and commercial lenders. The two combined in 2000 (Chase Manhattan bought J.P. Morgan & Co.) and the modern firm was shaped by the 2004 merger with Bank One, which brought Jamie Dimon and his management method. Dimon's own background matters for the design: American Express, then chief financial officer and president at Commercial Credit and Travelers under Sandy Weill, president of Citigroup in 1998, then chairman and CEO of Bank One from 2000; he became president of JPMorgan Chase on the Bank One merger on 1 July 2004, CEO on 1 January 2006 and chairman a year later ^[S80]. Bank One's Chicago retail and card franchise is why Chase looks as it does INFERRED.

The phrase the firm still uses for its mission is J.P. "Jack" Morgan Jr.'s, from his 1933 Senate testimony: "the idea of doing only first class business, and that in a first class way, has been before our minds" ^[S78]. The firm's own mission statement, from the 2014 report How We Do Business: "We are devoted to building and maintaining the best and most respected financial services company in the world, serving our clients and growing our communities globally... A bank can't be a fair weather friend. We must be unquestionably safe and sound" ^[S81]. AWM's version, from Mary Erdoes: "Our North Star has never changed: to be the best in the industry for our clients, not the biggest" ^[S90].

KEY TERM: FORTRESS BALANCE SHEET

Holding more capital and liquidity than regulators require so that the bank is the safe place in a crisis and can lend or buy when others cannot. It is Business Principle 5 ("we will always maintain a fortress balance sheet") ^[S79]. At the end of 2025: CET1 capital $288bn (14.5% of risk-weighted assets), $1.5tn of cash and marketable securities ^[S83].

2.2 How the money flows

WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM AND WHERE IT GOES, FY2025 (managed basis, $bn)

Sources: JPMorgan Chase FY2025 Form 10-K [S300]; 4Q25 earnings release [S304]; Dimon 2025 letter [S311]. Credit costs = provision for credit losses; tax = income tax expense. Rounded.

AWM detail: asset management fees $15.5, commissions $1.2, NII $6.8, other $0.6 = $24.1; expense $15.3; pretax $8.6; net income $6.5 [S300].

Buyback and dividend split is approximate from the 10-K capital actions; 'excess capital' per Dimon 2025 letter [S311].

Trace it from the customer. Consumers and small businesses give Chase deposits and card spending; companies and institutions pay the CIB for advice, capital raising, trading, payments and custody; wealthy families and institutions pay AWM fees on assets and hold deposits and loans with the Private Bank. In 2025 that produced $185.6bn of managed revenue, of which $95.4bn was net interest income (the spread between what the bank earns on loans and securities and pays on deposits) and $90.1bn was fee and trading revenue [S82][S83]. Expenses were $95.6bn, of which compensation was $54.5bn (57%) and technology, communications and equipment $11.0bn; management's broader "technology spend" framing is about $18bn [S82]. Credit costs were $14.2bn, tax $15.5bn, and net income $57.0bn [S82]. Return on tangible common equity was 20%.

By segment: Chase $76.0bn of revenue and $18.2bn of profit (32% ROE); the Commercial & Investment Bank $78.5bn and $27.8bn (18% ROE); AWM $24.1bn and $6.5bn (40% ROE); Corporate the rest [S82][S300]. For AWM the lines are: asset management fees $15.5bn; commissions and other fees $1.2bn; other income $0.6bn; net interest income $6.8bn; expense $15.3bn of which compensation $8.6bn (56%); pretax income $8.6bn, a 36% margin; net income $6.5bn. Asset Management earned $11.7bn (35% margin) and the Global Private Bank $12.4bn (37% margin) [S82]. The 10-K's own words on the Private Bank's growth: "higher management fees due to strong net inflows and higher average market levels, as well as higher brokerage commissions" and "higher net interest income, driven by higher average loans and deposits, largely offset by narrower spreads on loans"; on expense: "higher compensation, primarily higher revenue-related compensation and continued growth in private banking advisor teams" [S82].

Guidance for 2026, given in January and reaffirmed in February: net interest income about $103bn (later nudged to about $104.5bn), adjusted expense about $105bn, up about $9bn, with the first driver named as bankers, advisors and branches and "continued growth in JPMorgan Wealth Management and Private Bank client advisors" [S82][S86]. By July the expense guide was about $107.5bn [S340].

What flows down: money, trust, referrals. What flows up: advice, credit, execution, service. The centre supplies the front line with platforms, limits and control.

Figure 13. The firm's operating model as layers: customers and capital, the front line, the centre, and what flows between them.

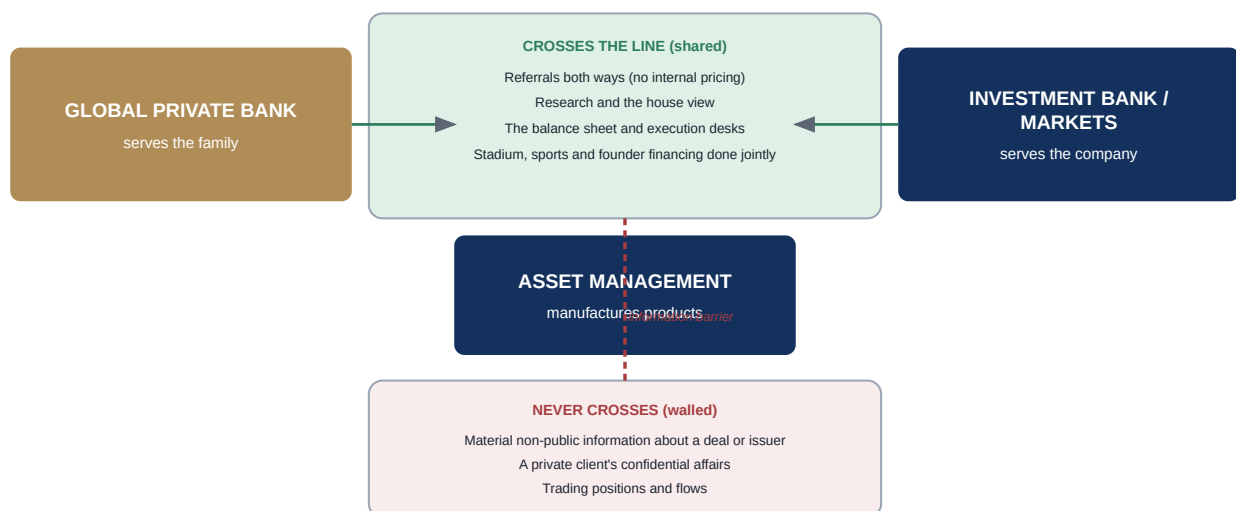

2.3 The contracts the business is made of

Party	Gives	Gets
Private Bank client	Assets to manage or advise on (a fee in basis points a year; no EMEA tariff is published, aggregators cite roughly 0.6% to 1.75% depending on size and service [S76] REPORTED); deposits; loan interest; brokerage commissions; placement fees on alternatives; trust fees. Under MiFID II the client receives ex-ante and ex-post cost disclosures [S215].	Advice across the whole balance sheet; a team of specialists; the balance sheet for lending (the securities-based lending terms warn: "J.P. Morgan can sell your securities without contacting you" if collateral falls [S77]); access to alternatives, research and the investment bank; deposit protection through the FSCS in the UK [S71].
Advisor (banker)	New clients, net new assets, revenue on the book, referrals, clean controls; long hours early ("12-hour days six days a week" to reach mastery, in Erdoes' words [S334]).	Salary plus a discretionary, scorecard-driven bonus described in the 10-K as "revenue-related compensation" [S82]; not a commission grid (forum accounts: "you won't get commissions at all at the Private Bank, just salary and bonus" [S118] [Reported, anecdotal]). Training hours have tripled since 2019; half of new advisors are grown internally [S90]. London private banker pay is self-reported on Glassdoor at an average of about £75,000 with an interquartile range of about £55,000 to £107,000 (September 2025 data) [S117] [Reported, anecdotal].
The firm's balance sheet	$266bn of Private Bank loans funded by $257bn of Private Bank deposits, on $16bn of allocated equity [S82].	$6.8bn of AWM net interest income; a 40% return on that equity; a loan book with a 0.04% charge-off rate in 2025 (0.01% in 2024) and 0.45% non-accrual [S82]; clients who are hard to lose (Part 3).
Shareholders	$362bn of equity, priced at about 3.3 times tangible book [S174].	$57bn of profit; roughly $46bn returned in 2025 per the Dimon letter [S311] REPORTED ; a 17% through-the-cycle return target treated as a floor.

2.4 The risk and control architecture

The 10-K describes three lines of defence in its own words. The first line is "each LOB, Treasury and CIO... including their aligned Operations, Technology and Control Management", which "owns the risks, and identification of risks, associated with their respective activities and the design and execution of controls to manage those risks". The second is "the IRM function [Independent Risk Management], which is separate from the first line of defense and is responsible for independently measuring risk, as well as assessing and challenging the risk management activities of the first line of defense". The third is "Internal Audit... led by the General Auditor, who reports to the Audit Committee and administratively to the CEO" [S82]. The Chief Risk Officer, Ashley Bacon (in the role since 2013, joined in 1993), "reports to Chairman and CEO Jamie Dimon and the Risk Committee of the Board" [S96]. Conduct risk is defined as "the risk that any action or misconduct by an employee could lead to unfair client or customer outcomes", with annual Code affirmation and an anonymous hotline [S82].

What this produces in the Private Bank is a characteristic result: a loan book that is "highly collateralized" (Erdoes) with charge-offs of one to four basis points a year, and a business whose revenue is 73% recurring [S90][S320]. The rules an Advisor lives inside: "two ways out" on every loan (repayment from cash flow and from collateral), never opening an account before Know-Your-Customer is complete, suitability documented for every recommendation, and an information barrier between the Private Bank and the investment bank. The firm's rewrite of its controls after 2012 to 2014 is documented in How We Do Business, which was published to describe "actions taken to address recent legal and regulatory issues" [S81].

Sources: Erdoes on referrals and 'no side accounting groups' [S320]; firmwide conduct and information-barrier framework per 10-K risk management [S300]. Specific wall procedures are not

Figure 14. The boundary between the Private Bank and the rest of the firm: what is shared, what is never shared, and why.

2.5 The strategy and business mix, and what has grown

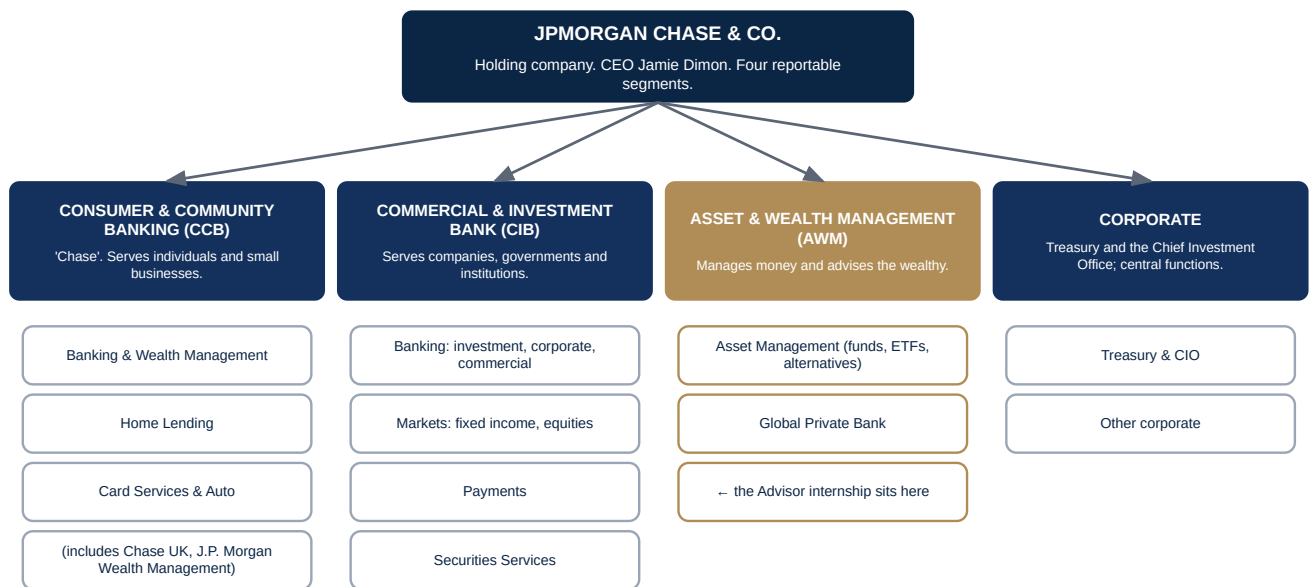

Figure 15. The four reportable segments since the 2024 reorganisation ^[S300]. The Global Private Bank sits inside AWM; Chase's own wealth offering sits inside CCB.

FY2025 revenue and net income by segment ($bn, managed basis)

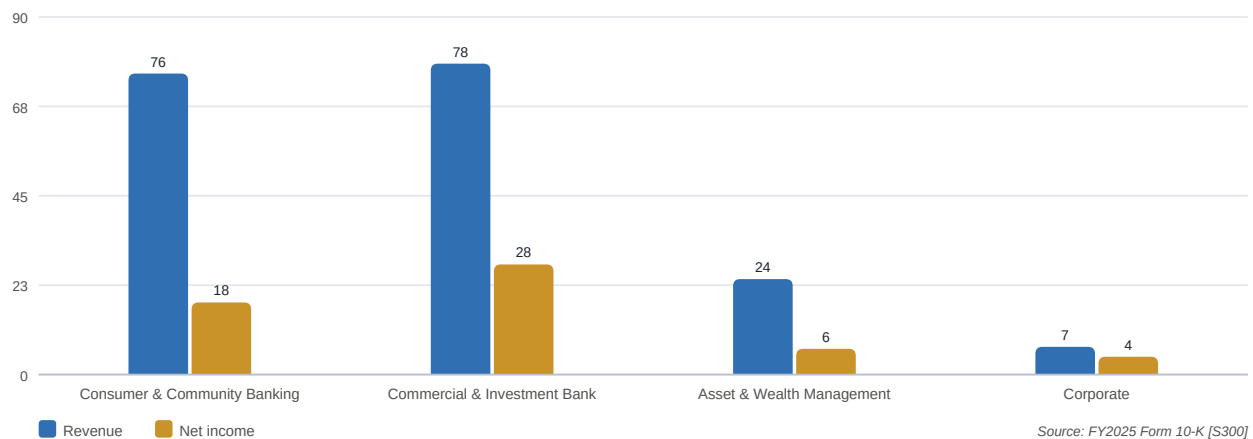

Figure 16. The CIB is now the largest revenue and profit engine; AWM is small by revenue and highest in return on equity (40%) ^[S300].

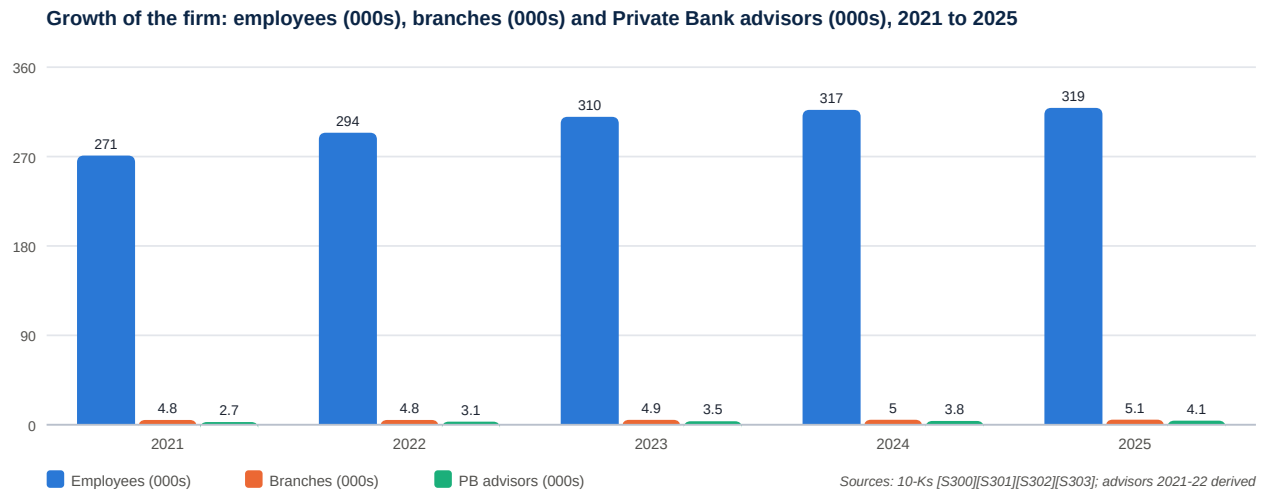

Figure 17. Growth of the firm over time. Employees are in thousands; branches and Private Bank advisors are also in thousands, so the small bars are read against their own labels. Advisors for 2021 and 2022 are derived from firmwide totals (estimate).

What has grown fastest is the client-facing front line and the fee businesses. Employees went from about 271,000 (2021) to 318,512 (2025) and 320,560 by June 2026; branches from about 4,800 to 5,083; Private Bank advisors from roughly 2,700 to 4,101 [S300][S302][S305][S316]. AWM's revenue rose 42% and its client assets 65% in five years. The CIB became the largest profit engine after Commercial Banking was merged into it in 2024. Dimon's letters describe the design as "enduring businesses, which rely on and benefit from one another... we are not a conglomerate" [S311]. Part 3 explains the mechanism.

2.6 Public company: what that means for research

JPMorgan Chase is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, so almost everything in this pack comes from documents the firm is legally required to publish: the annual 10-K, quarterly earnings releases, proxy statements, and the shareholder letters it chooses to write. Segment-level numbers for AWM are audited and comparable year to year. What is not published: the Private Bank's own P&L below the segment line, UK headcount, fee schedules, and compensation. For those the pack uses postings, regulator registers, trade press and forums, and says so. In the UK the relevant entities are on the FCA register: JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. London Branch (FRN 124491), J.P. Morgan Securities plc (FRN 155240), J.P. Morgan SE London Branch (FRN 755066; Companies House FC035501), J.P. Morgan Europe Limited (FRN 124579; the entity behind Chase UK) and JPMorgan Asset Management (UK) Limited (FRN 119337); all registered at 25 Bank Street, Canary Wharf, with the Private Bank's client address at 60 Victoria Embankment [S70][S71][S73][S74]. The EU hub is J.P. Morgan SE in Frankfurt (ECB and BaFin supervised); the Swiss hub is J.P. Morgan (Suisse) SA in Geneva (FINMA) [S72][S70].

2.7 The leadership's view of the future, and what the hiring says

In the firm's own words: deploy "$40 billion, $50 billion organically over the next five years" (Dimon, February 2026) [S322]; a possible "$10 [billion] or $20 billion" acquisition "in the next couple years" (May 2026) [S230]; Chase into Germany (May 2026) and at least three more European countries by 2030 (FT report) [S228][S229]; AI that has already removed "30% to 40%" of headcount in some units while "you don't uniquely benefit from AI" [S232]; and in AWM a "path to $10 trillion" of client assets with Global Private Bank client assets going from about $3tn to $5tn, advisor hiring continuing and then "normalizing later this decade" [S320][S316]. The hiring pattern confirms it: the first driver of 2026 expense growth is "bankers, advisors and branches"; UK Private Bank postings in September 2026 include five banker seats, two lending advisors and two analyst programmes; the International Private Bank wants to go from about 1,000 relationship managers to about 1,900 [S86][S40][S47][S65]. The author's inference: the firm is spending the surplus capital of a record year on people and platforms, and the International Private Bank in London is one of the named destinations. INFERRED

2.9 The skeletons in the cupboard, told straight

Every large bank has a record of enforcement. Knowing it means nothing in the interview can surprise you, and it shows you read facts cold, which is Business Principle 12. Each entry: what happened, when, how much, what changed, and one sentence to say if asked.

Matter	What happened	What changed	If asked
London Whale (2012 to 2013)	A $6.2bn loss in the Chief Investment Office's credit derivatives book. Fines of about $920m in September 2013, including £137.6m from the FCA, its first against the firm, for "extremely serious" failings [S97].	The CIO was restructured; a firm-wide controls agenda; the 2014 How We Do Business report [S81].	"A risk-management failure in a treasury book, not a client business; it produced the control framework I'd be working inside."
Mortgage securities settlement (November 2013)	$13bn to US authorities: $2bn civil penalty, $7bn compensatory, $4bn borrower relief, mostly for pre-2009 conduct at Bear Stearns and Washington Mutual, both acquired in 2008 [S99].	The largest single-entity settlement of its time.	"Largely the price of the 2008 rescues of Bear and WaMu; the firm acknowledged misrepresentations and paid."

FX rigging (2014 to 2015)	FCA fine of £222.2m (November 2014); a parent-level guilty plea in the US to a Sherman Act conspiracy, $550m fine plus $342m from the Fed (May 2015) [S98] [S100] .	Chatroom bans; conduct surveillance across communications.	"One trader in a chatroom cost the firm a criminal plea; it is why communications surveillance is unforgiving."
Spoofing (September 2020)	A record $920m CFTC order for manipulative trading in precious metals and Treasuries between 2008 and 2016, with a deferred prosecution agreement [S101] .	Traders convicted; surveillance upgrades.	"Trader misconduct over 2008 to 2016; the firm took a DPA and paid a record fine."
Recordkeeping (December 2021)	$125m to the SEC and $75m to the CFTC, admitted, for staff using personal devices for business messages [S102] .	An industry-wide sweep followed; strict approved-channel policies.	"First in the industry to settle; it is why every work message I send is on an approved channel."
Epstein (2023 to 2026)	Jeffrey Epstein was a client from about 1998 to 2013. In 2023 the firm paid $290m to victims and $75m to the US Virgin Islands and sued its former executive Jes Staley [S106] . In November 2025 Senator Wyden's analysis said $4.3m of transactions were flagged while Epstein was alive against about $1.3bn reported retrospectively [S108] . In July and August 2026 Staley told a House committee he had shared confidential information with Epstein; JPMorgan declined to comment [S107] [S259] .	Client-exit governance and reputational-risk committees; the case is still live politically.	"The bank kept a client it should have exited; it settled, sued its own former executive, and it is still a live issue in 2026. I'd expect KYC escalation to be non-negotiable."
Trade surveillance (2024 to 2026)	$348.2m from the OCC and the Fed in March 2024 and $200m from the CFTC in May 2024 for "billions of instances" of unsurveilled trading data; the OCC ended its order in March 2026 [S103] [S104] [S105] .	Independent assessment; venue-onboarding controls.	"A data-completeness failure the firm self-identified; the OCC lifted its order this spring."
Frank (2021 to 2025)	The firm paid $175m for a student-finance start-up whose customer numbers were fabricated; the founder was convicted in March 2025 and sentenced in September 2025 to 85 months [S110] .	Due-diligence lessons in fintech M&A.	"The firm was the victim and pursued it to conviction."
Viva Wallet (2025)	A dispute with the founder of a Greek payments company in which the firm holds 48.5%; an English court anti-suit injunction in July 2025 [S111] .	Ongoing.	"A shareholder-agreement dispute over a fintech stake; a valuation fight, not a conduct issue."
UK Private Bank specific (2013)	The FCA fined J.P. Morgan International Bank £3.1m in May 2013 for record-keeping failures in its wealth-management business: "customers of wealth managers should be able to expect the firm to keep complete, up to date client records so that they can give the right advice" [S370] .	Suitability record-keeping; the entity was later merged away.	"A suitability-records fine on the old UK private-banking entity; the point stands, records are the advice."

ECB (February 2026)	€12.2m fine on J.P. Morgan SE for misreporting risk-weighted assets 2019 to 2024, self-reported [S251].	Remediated.	"Self-identified and self-reported; the ECB's largest fine, but small in context."

No FCA or PRA enforcement against any JPMorgan UK entity was found for 2023 to 2026 in the FCA's fines tables [S132][S133][S250]. Two items suggested in the brief (a 2021 PRA fine and a 2022 FCA fine) could not be substantiated and are treated as non-existent.

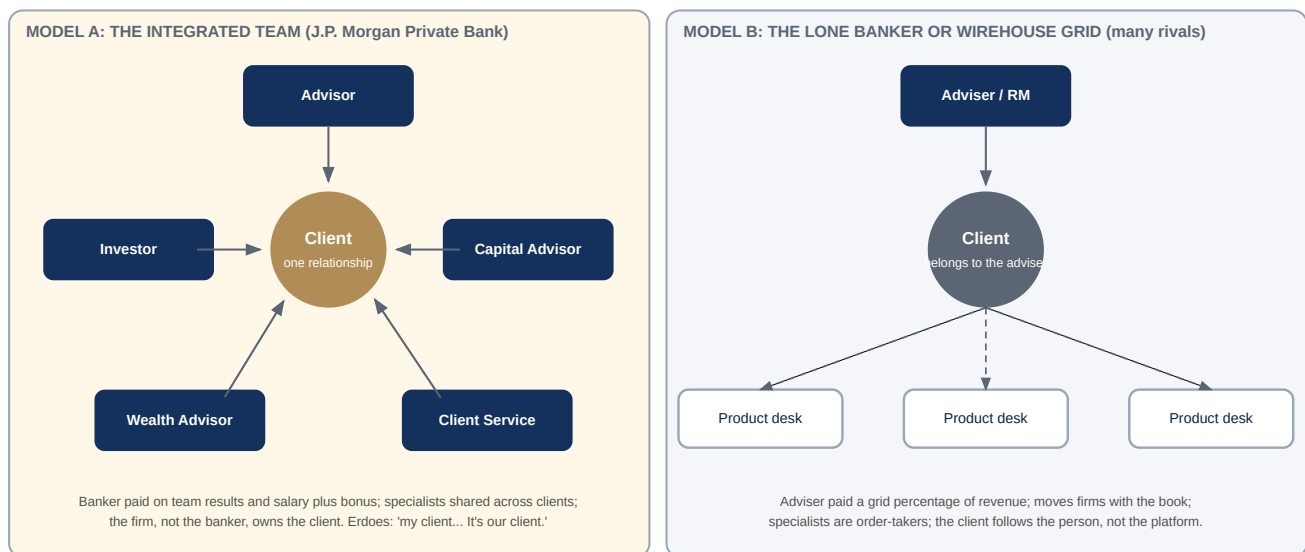

PART 3

Why the firm is built this way

Structure, collaboration, what customers actually buy, and the non-core side. Four questions answered from the firm's own words and numbers, with the costs stated as well as the benefits.

3.1 Why this structure: teams around clients, and three businesses under one roof

The team model. Every UHNW client gets a pod: an Advisor who owns the relationship, an Investor, a Capital Advisor, a Wealth Advisor and a Client Service Associate [S28][S44]. The theory has four parts. First, coverage of the whole balance sheet: one person cannot be expert in markets, credit and trusts, so the firm assigns specialists and makes one of them accountable. Second, replaceable seats: the firm, not the banker, owns the client, so when a banker leaves the client usually stays ("over 95% don't leave" [S318]). Third, attributable but team-based pay: salary plus a revenue-related bonus, not a commission grid, so specialists have no incentive to over-sell their own product and bankers have no incentive to hoard [S82][S118]. Fourth, seeded books: "This isn't the brokerage business model... This is really an apprenticeship model business. This is where we don't buy books of business. We seed books of business" [S317]. The costs, stated plainly: five people per client is expensive (compensation is 56% of AWM's costs [S82]); coordination takes time; and a banker who is not the "owner" of a client in the legal sense is paid less than a wirehouse adviser with a large book would be.

Sources: Gamica on the five-role team [S28]; JPM UK Client Advisor posting [S13]; Erdoes Investor Day 2022 on 'not the brokerage business model' [S317]. Model B is the author's stylisation of the US wirehouse grid model.

Three businesses under one roof. Why does the firm keep a consumer bank, a wholesale bank and a wealth manager together when each could be a large company alone? Dimon's answer, in every letter: "we strive to build enduring businesses, which rely on and benefit from one another... we are not a conglomerate. This structure helps generate our superior returns" [S311]. Barnum's in February 2026: "Our completeness, global presence, diversification and scale are not just attributes. They're our competitive advantages... The composition and connectivity of our business lines creates durability" [S322]. The specific mechanisms for the Private Bank are in 3.2. The cost of the structure, which the firm also admits: "Size can often be a tremendous business disadvantage because it frequently comes with the baggage of complexity, bureaucracy and complacency" [S311]; a controls burden that a boutique does not carry; and a compensation model that can lose top bankers to firms paying a grid.

Why the Private Bank sits with Asset Management, not with Chase. Both halves of AWM are fiduciary and fee-based; the Private Bank is the asset manager's most reliable distribution channel and the asset manager's research and products are the Private Bank's raw material. Erdoes: "asset management... can give you a 4 to 6 times multiple lift... Because it's a recurring revenue business that's very capital light" and "73% of our revenues come from recurring revenues" [S320]. Chase's own wealth business stays in Chase because its clients come through branches: "90% of new advised clients were referred by bankers" in the branches (Lake, 2025) [S321]. A shared platform, Wealth Management Solutions under Martin Marron, supplies both so that "no matter where you come into this institution, you get the best advice" [S320].

3.2 How the teams work together, in the firm's own wording

Read the firm's words precisely. Erdoes at Investor Day 2025 on where Private Bank clients come from: "We are every day investing in the companies that are taken public by the investment bank. We're helping the CFOs of those companies to invest their liquidity in [our] money market fund business. We're helping the CEOs... on their personal balance sheets, taking their 10b5-1 programs, sending them through Troy's trading desks... or we're taking all the great things in the commercial bank and the leads that they have... There are 2,000 private banking clients that walk into those [Chase] branches every day" [S320]. On the innovation economy built after Silicon Valley Bank failed: "when you look at all the cap tables in the world, 42% of them are in the innovation economy" [S320]. On the rule that makes it work: "that whole flywheel of people, they don't sit there and count the beans of, like, who gets credit for what... We do not tolerate that here at J.P. Morgan. We do not have side accounting groups that think about where those revenues get counted for. We are trying to win for the client" [S320]. The disclosed results: "over 95% of our top 50 AWM clients also work with our other lines of business" [S316], about 3,000 Private Bank referrals to Chase Wealth Management in 2023; 60% of major US sports-team owners are Private Bank clients and the firm financed "10 of the last 15 major sports transactions" by combining Private Bank lending with the investment bank's municipal-finance and the commercial bank's real-estate teams [S320]; a private-credit joint venture between the CIB and the Private Bank [S329].

Where collaboration does not happen, and why: the information barrier. The investment bank knows things about companies that the Private Bank must not know until they are public. Deal information, trading positions and one client's confidential affairs never cross. The firm's public documents do not describe the wall procedures in detail (no bank's do), but the 10-K's conduct-risk framework and the industry's standard restricted-list and wall-crossing practice apply [S82] INFERRED. The practical consequence for an Advisor: you can be told "the investment bank is running a sale for company X, meet the founder afterwards"; you cannot be told the price, and you must not trade or advise on the company's shares in the meantime. Part 11 has the decision tree.

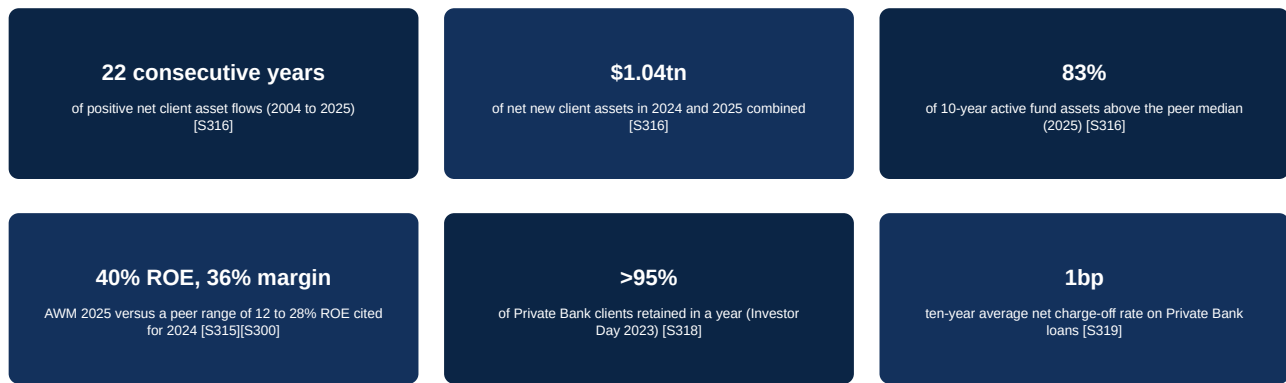

SAY THIS IN THE INTERVIEW

"What struck me is not the referral flow but the rule behind it: no internal transfer pricing and no credit-counting. Most banks have referral programmes that fail because each division fights over who booked the revenue. Here the Investor Day line is 'we do not have side accounting groups', which is why the investment bank's founders become Private Bank clients."

3.3 What customers actually buy, and the counter-case

Who they are. Individuals and families, family offices, "institutional families" (the 23 Wall segment, 800+ families with an average net worth around $5bn), founders and entrepreneurs, financial-institution executives and partners, athletes and entertainers [S2][S38]. Thresholds are not published; third-party guides put the UK floor around £10m of investable assets and the internal UHNW segment around $25m and up; the firm's family-office page says family offices usually hold "at least a few hundred million" [S76][S28][S39]. The 2026 Global Family Office Report (333 offices, average net worth $1.6bn) shows what the top of the book looks like: about 40% public equities, 35% alternatives, under 15% bonds, 8% cash; 86% with no formal succession plan; geopolitics the top risk for 64%; 72% with no gold and 57% with no venture exposure [S240][S34].

What they are buying. Four things, in the firm's disclosed measures.

What a client is buying: durability and consistency rather than the highest return in any one year. The counter-case (fees, house product, size) is in Part 8.

- 1. Durability rather than the best year. Twenty-two consecutive years of positive net client flows; over $1tn of net new client assets in 2024 and 2025 combined; 83% of ten-year active fund assets above the peer median [S316].
- 2. The balance sheet. $266bn of Private Bank loans with charge-offs of one to four basis points; the largest sports-team and jumbo-mortgage lender in private banking; "the largest lending business on the private banking space" [S82][S91]. A boutique or a Swiss partnership cannot lend at this scale in multiple currencies.
- 3. Access. The number one investment bank by fees for 15+ years [S304]; over $200bn of alternatives with 850+ external managers and the firm's own private funds; research from 500 career analysts and $500m a year of research spend [S25][S316][S320].
- 4. Institutional safety. A 14.5% CET1 ratio and $1.5tn of liquidity [S83]; in the March 2023 bank crisis the firm opened 40,000 Private Bank accounts in ten weeks and new $100m+ clients arrived at "four a day" [S318].

Why they accept the terms. Fees at the top end are not the deciding factor: research on the wealth industry shows blended fees falling from around 1% below $1m of assets to 0.5% to 0.8% above $5m, with the UHNW segment resilient because the value comes from lending, structuring and access rather than a model portfolio [S204][S216]. Most UHNW families use two to four banks; exclusive single-firm relationships have halved from 39% in 2019 to 19% in 2025 [S200]. What the firm sells is the case for being the primary bank.

YOUR OPINION GOES HERE: THE COUNTER-CASE, WITH NUMBERS FROM BOTH SIDES

Against: (1) Fees. A £50m client at 60 to 100 basis points pays £300,000 to £500,000 a year; an index fund and a mortgage broker cost a fraction. (2) House product. The EMEA site states the firm "prefers J.P. Morgan managed strategies" and earns more when they are used [S195]. (3) Size. Onboarding is slow (source-of-wealth checks take weeks), and the firm itself says size brings "complexity, bureaucracy and complacency" [S311]. (4) Conduct history. The Epstein record shows a profitable client overriding compliance for years [S108]. (5) Scale in Europe. International client assets of about $750bn against UBS's $4.8tn; share "below 1%" in several markets [S316][S320].

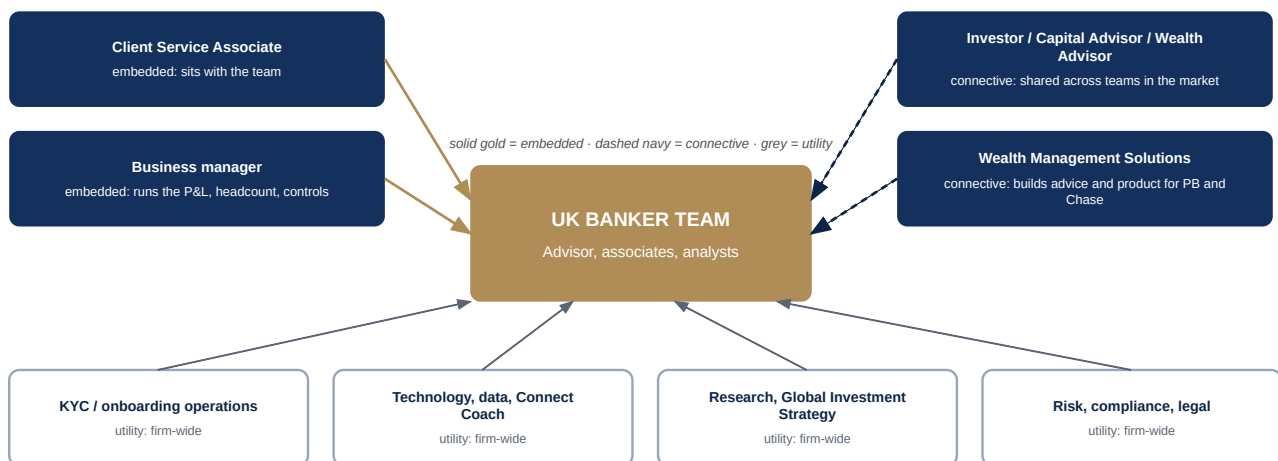

For: (1) Performance: 83% of ten-year active assets beat the peer median, and flows of $553bn in one year are the market's verdict [S316]. (2) Open shelf: 850+ external alternatives managers, a fiduciary stance stated as "no fiduciary manager should dictate choice" [S320][S315]. (3) Lending and safety: losses of one to four basis points on $266bn; deposits and loans clients cannot get from an adviser without a balance sheet [S82]. (4) The referral engine nobody else has at this scale [S320]. (5) Growth: the fastest advisor build among majors (+64% in five years), funded by a 36% margin while Barclays' private bank profit fell and Julius Baer's fell 25% [S316][S163][S159].

Decide where you land and be able to say it in two sentences. A defensible position: "For a family above £10m with cross-border needs and a company or concentrated stock, the balance sheet and the investment bank are worth the fee; below that, or for a purely domestic family, Coutts or an independent adviser may serve better."

3.4 The non-core side: how big, how organised, how wired to the front line

How big. Of 318,512 employees at the end of 2025, about 50,000 sit in Corporate (technology, risk, legal, HR, audit, finance) and management has said about 80,000 work in operations and call centres across the lines of business, with a further 60,000 technologists [S300][S319]. Technology spend is about $18bn a year on the firm's framing, rising to about $19.8bn in 2026 [S82][S322]. In AWM, 29,722 employees serve $7.1tn of client assets; the marketing organisation alone is "approximately 500 team members" [S82][S48]. Per unit of assets, that is a leaner centre than most wealth managers: UBS Global Wealth runs at a 76% cost-to-income ratio against AWM's 64% overhead ratio [S155][S82].

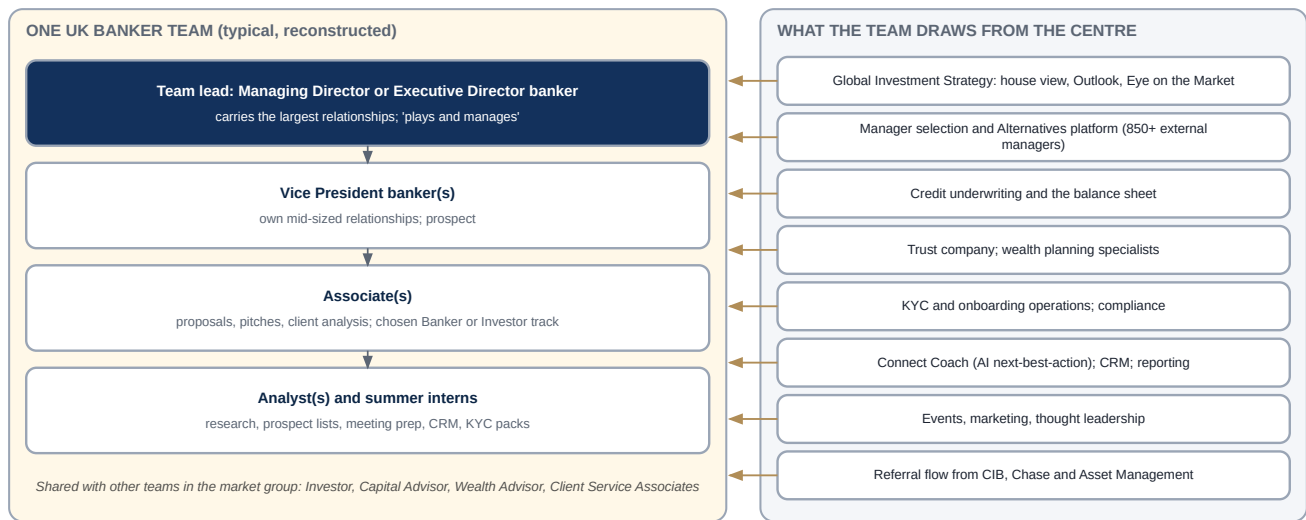

How organised. The AWM centre as the firm presents it: Finance and Strategy (Ben Hesse), a Chief Information Officer and Chief Data and Analytics Officer (Mike Urciuoli), Global Operations (Julie Harris), Human Resources (Nelli Childs), Risk (Gregg Gunselman, reporting into the firmwide Chief Risk Officer), and Wealth Management Solutions (Martin Marron) as the advice-and-product platform shared with Chase [S320][S322][S6]. In the UK the postings show the connective seats: Market Managers and Business Managers alongside each market team; a Channel Marketing Lead for the UK, Nordics, Benelux, Middle East and emerging markets; a regulatory controls lead in Glasgow who builds "partnerships across the first and second lines of defense, Legal Entity management, Legal, Regulatory Management, and Control Management" [S49][S51].

Sources: Client Advisor Support Associate posting [S14]; Paris Wealth Advisor posting ("partner with Bankers, Investors and Lending Advisors") [S18]; Erdos on Wealth Management Solutions [S320]. Business-manager role is standard at JPM lines of business (Inferred).

How wired to the front line: the postings that prove it. Embedded: the Client Advisor Support Associate who prepares "presentations and materials for client meetings", manages onboarding and coordinates "with global investment specialists, wealth advisors and capital advisors" [S14]. Connective: the Lending Advisor as "internal sales leader for the credit product, liaising with the Market Manager, Bankers and Investors" [S45]; the Wealth Advisor who will "partner with Bankers, Investors and Lending Advisors" and act as a "sounding board" on estate and governance [S18]; the Mortgage Solutions Specialist who partners "with Client Advisors and Lending Solutions" and "with Credit Risk on underwriting" [S50]. Utility: Global Investment Strategy's house view; the KYC and onboarding operations in Glasgow and Edinburgh; the AI tools, SpectrumIQ (which "automated nearly 75% of equity trading") and Connect Coach (12,000 users, "25 specialized AI agents") [S316]; the digital product team hiring a "Product Designer, Advisor Experience" [S51]. The Advisor's job in this wiring is to know what the centre can do and to ask for it early.

Reconstruction. Team shape from JPM postings for Client Advisor (ED), Client Advisor Support Associate and Analyst roles [S13][S14][S17] and forum accounts of the analyst-to-associate track [S357] (anecdote).
Centre functions from the EMEA services pages [S3][S4][S5], Euromoney alternatives write-up [S25], Erdos 2025 letter on Connect Coach [S316]. Headcount per team not published.

PART 4

How the firm stands out, and what only it can claim

The peer table, the design spectrum, the five to seven things that cannot be said of any rival, and where the firm does not lead.

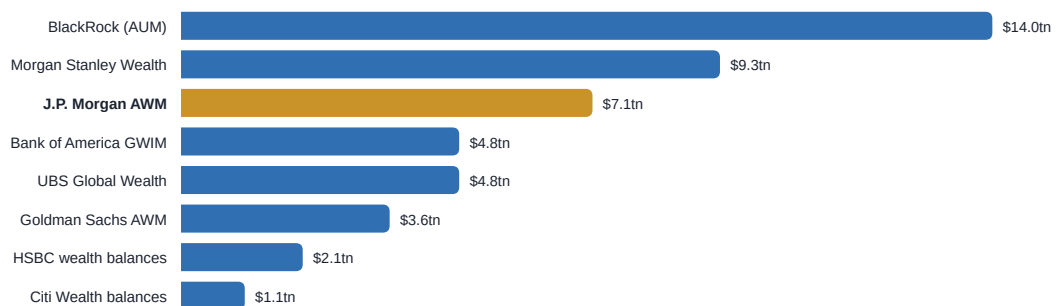

4.1 The peer table

Fiscal 2025 unless stated. Peers report on different bases, so the comparisons are directional. Sources: each firm's results [\[S150\]](#), [\[S161\]](#), [\[S175\]](#), [\[S300\]](#), [\[S316\]](#); adviser counts for Morgan Stanley, UBS and Bank of America are press estimates.

Firm	Founded / ownership	Size (dated)	Model and mix	Teams / advisers	Fees / pricing	Recent results	How it handles the candidate's function
J.P. Morgan AWM	1799 lineage; listed (NYSE)	$7.1tn client assets; $4.8tn AUM (Dec 2025)	Asset manager plus global private bank inside a universal bank; 73% recurring revenue	4,101 PB advisers; 10,150 wealth advisers firmwide	Bps on assets; salary plus bonus for advisers; no published EMEA tariff	Rev $24.1bn; 36% margin; ROE 40%; flows $553bn	Integrated five-seat team; apprenticeship; London runs the international bank

4.2 The design spectrum

Positions are the author's judgement [Inferred] from the peer table in Part 4 and each firm's own description of its model. Gold = J.P. Morgan.

Four design axes on which J.P. Morgan sits at or near one end. Uniform global model versus local heritage: "we operate the only private bank in the industry with a uniform business model globally" [S316]; UBS is the only peer with comparable global uniformity; Coutts, Barclays and HSBC UK are local. Balance-sheet-heavy versus asset-light: J.P. Morgan and UBS lend at scale; Goldman's private wealth and the Swiss partnerships lend less; independent advisers not at all. Owned-by-the-firm versus owned-by-the-adviser: J.P. Morgan seeds books and pays salary plus bonus; Morgan Stanley and Merrill pay a grid and advisers move with books. Open shelf versus house product: J.P. Morgan runs 850+ external alternatives managers alongside its own funds; some Swiss houses and Goldman lean more proprietary; independent advisers are fully open. Positions are the author's judgement from the firms' own descriptions INFERRED.

4.3 What only J.P. Morgan can claim

Claim	Evidence	Why it matters to the role
1. The number one investment bank and the number one private bank under one roof	#1 global investment banking fees for 15+ years with 8.4% wallet share (9.3% in 2026 year to date) [S304][S305]; Global Finance's best private bank in the world for seven years [S27][S241]. Morgan Stanley and Goldman have the investment bank but smaller private banks abroad; UBS has the private bank but a smaller investment bank.	Founders and executives arrive through the investment bank; "42% of cap tables" are already in the firm's innovation-economy franchise [S320].
2. The referral engine with no internal pricing	"We do not have side accounting groups"; "2,000 private banking clients walk into those branches every day"; 95% of top clients use other lines of business [S320][S316].	A junior banker's prospects come from inside the firm, not only from cold calls.
3. The largest lending franchise in private banking	$266bn of loans; "the largest lending business on the private banking space"; 10 of the last 15 major sports transactions; charge-offs of one to four basis points [S82][S91].	Lending is how a client becomes primary; an Advisor here can solve a £15m house purchase in days.
4. The apprenticeship model with disclosed economics	"We seed books of business"; break-even in year three; half of advisors home-grown; 25-year-olds as productive as mid-career hires; advisors 2,500 to 4,101 in five years [S317][S320][S316].	The programme you are applying to is the firm's chosen source of advisors, and the firm has said so to shareholders.
5. Targets set in 2020 and beaten every year, never raised	Revenue growth 5%, margin 25%, ROE 25%, flows 4%; actuals 2025 were 12%, 36%, 40% [S320][S82]. "I don't want them to be constrained by raising higher targets" [S320].	A culture that spends record sums ($2.7bn in AWM in 2025) on growth rather than on hitting a number.
6. London as the seat of the international bank, with Europe named as the share opportunity	"The largest U.S. bank in the high-net-worth-plus segment internationally"; "the biggest opportunity... is very much within the European franchise"; three new "almost CEO-like" regional heads; 1,000 to about 1,900 relationship managers [S316][S65].	The UK intake in 2027 is part of a stated build; the UK head is reported to be hiring about 30 people a year [S66].
7. World's best for alternatives and digital, per Euromoney 2026	Over $200bn of alternatives in the Private Bank; about $2bn a month placed; 850+ managers; Connect Coach and SpectrumIQ [S25][S234][S320][S316].	The "alternative investment teams" named in your posting are a genuine differentiator, not a brochure line.

4.4 Where the firm does not lead, stated plainly

- Not the largest wealth manager. Morgan Stanley has $9.3tn to $10tn of client assets and UBS $4.8tn of invested assets in wealth alone against AWM's $7.1tn across asset and wealth management [S154][S155][S316].
- Not the winner of Euromoney's global title in 2025 or 2026. Goldman won in 2025; DBS in 2026 [S177][S242].
- Not the biggest in Europe. International Private Bank client assets of roughly $750bn against UBS's $4.8tn; market share "below 1%" in several markets [S320][S316]. UBS's cost problem and Swiss capital fight are an opening, not a lead [S253].
- Not the UK domestic bank. Coutts (now with Evelyn, £127bn), Barclays and HSBC own sterling current accounts and the "family bank" role; J.P. Morgan's UK retail arm (Chase UK, 2.8m customers) is not joined up with the Private Bank [S256][S163][S74].
- Not the best absolute M&A adviser. Goldman out-earns the firm in pure advisory and had the record equities year in 2025 [S153].
- Not free of conduct history. Part 2.9.

DON'T SAY THIS

"J.P. Morgan is the biggest and the best at everything." It is neither, and Erdoes' own line is "the best in the industry for our clients, not the biggest". Overclaiming is the fastest way to lose an interviewer who works there.

PART 5

The industry from zero

What private banking is, who the customers are, how firms differ, the vocabulary, and the forces reshaping the sector with three competing views on where it goes.

5.1 What the product is

Private banking is wealth management plus a bank. Wealth management is advice on how a person's money should be invested and organised around their goals. A private bank adds a banking licence and a balance sheet, so it can also take deposits, lend, and hold assets in custody. That combination is the product: one relationship that can invest £50m, lend £20m against it, hold cash in five currencies and set up the trust that passes it on ^{[S217][S3]}.

KEY TERMS: THE FAMILY OF FIRMS

Retail banking: accounts, cards and small loans for everyone; product-led, high volume. Wealth management: advice and portfolios for people with money to invest; in the US often by registered investment advisers with no balance sheet. Private banking: wealth management for the wealthy, delivered by a bank that can also lend and hold deposits. Asset management: running pooled funds (mutual funds, ETFs, private-equity funds) for institutions and individuals; J.P. Morgan Asset Management is the Private Bank's sister business. Investment banking: advising companies on mergers and raising capital; it serves companies, the private bank serves the people who own or run them. Private equity: funds that buy whole companies; a client of the private bank as an investor, a counterparty when the client sells a business.

5.2 Who the customers are

Industry convention (Capgemini's definitions): mass affluent $100,000 to $1m of investable assets; "millionaires next door" $1m to $5m; mid-tier $5m to $30m; ultra-high-net-worth over $30m, about 1% of millionaires holding roughly a third of their wealth ^[S216]. Altrata counted 556,850 UHNW individuals in 2025, up 14%, holding $63.8tn, with about $26tn investable; 80% of North American UHNW individuals are self-made ^[S192]. J.P. Morgan's ladder runs from Chase Private Client at $150,000, through J.P. Morgan Private Client at $750,000, to the Private Bank at around $10m and the Institutional Wealth segment for the largest families ^{[S219][S38]}. A private bank client is therefore usually a founder, an executive, a financial professional, an inheritor or a family office, and increasingly a self-made one.

5.3 What the client needs, and what each need is called

Need	Products and vocabulary	The economics
Grow	Strategic asset allocation (the long-run mix, set from the firm's Long-Term Capital Market Assumptions: US large-cap equities 6.7% a year, global equities 7.0%, private equity 10.2%, US Treasuries 4 to 5% ^[S193]); tactical tilts ; discretionary (the bank decides within a mandate), advisory (the bank recommends, the client decides) or brokerage (execution only) mandates ^{[S194][S3]} ; alternatives at 15 to 30% of investable assets for committed clients, in drawdown funds (capital called over years) or evergreen funds (invested up front, limited redemptions) ^[S33] .	An annual fee in basis points (one hundredth of one percent) on assets; typical all-in fees of about 1% to 1.5% on £1m to £5m falling to 0.25% to 0.5% above £50m, plus fund charges ^[S195] . Placement fees on alternatives.

Preserve	Diversification away from a concentrated stock or currency; hedging; structured notes (bank-issued notes packaging derivatives for income or protection); cyber advice.	Part of the advisory fee; margin on structured products.
Borrow	Lombard or securities-based lending against a portfolio at loan-to-values of 80 to 95% for government bonds, 60 to 70% for large-cap equities, 20 to 50% for a concentrated stock, priced at SONIA or SOFR plus a margin, with margin calls if collateral falls [S196][S197][S77]; mortgages on prime property; specialty loans on aircraft, art, fund interests and private shares [S4]. Why borrow rather than sell: selling crystallises capital gains tax, borrowing does not; you keep the asset's growth; it is faster; entrepreneurs with lumpy income fail high-street affordability tests [S197].	Net interest income : the spread between the loan rate and the bank's funding cost. In 2025 AWM earned $6.8bn of it, 28% of revenue [S82].
Transfer	Trusts, wills, corporate trustee services, philanthropy structures, family governance and constitutions, next-generation programmes; pre-liquidity planning for founders, ideally begun 18 to 24 months before a sale because some strategies "may only be available before the sale and not after" [S198][S5].	Trustee and planning fees; stickiness across generations.
Run life	Deposits, multi-currency accounts, payments, foreign exchange, custody, consolidated reporting.	Deposit spread; FX spread of roughly 0.5% to 1.5% on spot [S195].
Stay legal	Know Your Customer , source of wealth (how the fortune was built) versus source of funds (where this deposit came from), enhanced checks for politically exposed persons [S199].	A cost centre that protects the licence.

5.4 How a private bank makes money and how a banker is measured

A rule of thumb from listed pure-plays: a private bank earns roughly 70 to 100 basis points of revenue a year on client assets (Julius Baer's gross margin was 82 to 87 basis points in 2025 and early 2026), spends 60 to 70% of that on costs, and keeps the rest [S218]. AWM's numbers are richer because of lending and asset management: $24.1bn of revenue on $7.1tn of client assets is about 34 basis points at the segment level, at a 64% overhead ratio [S82]. A banker's book is measured on client assets, net new money (inflows minus outflows, excluding market moves), revenue on the book, return on assets in basis points, share of wallet, retention and referrals [S201]. Exclusive single-firm relationships have halved to 19% of UHNW households since 2019, and 35 to 50% of private-banking relationships are loss-making, which is why "primary bank" status is the whole game [\[S200\]](#).

5.5 The forces reshaping the sector

Green = tailwind for a private bank advisor · red = headwind · navy = double-edged. Sources in Part 5.

Figure 30. The industry shift map: eight forces and which way each pushes a private bank advisor in London.

- The great wealth transfer. Cerulli estimates $124tn will pass between generations in the US through 2048, half of it from the 2% of households that are HNW or UHNW, and about $40tn first to widowed women [\[S190\]](#). In the UK, £5.5tn between 2017 and 2047, over 70% of it property, with annual transfers rising from £69bn to £355bn [\[S191\]](#). Heirs often switch advisers, so banks court the "rising generation" early; J.P. Morgan's family-office report finds over 75% of families now involve the next generation [\[S34\]](#).
- Alternatives into private wealth. UHNW individuals hold about 22% in alternatives, family offices 35 to 46%, institutions about 55% [\[S203\]](#)[\[S240\]](#); semi-liquid and evergreen funds reached $644bn in 2025 [\[S202\]](#). J.P. Morgan places about $2bn a month [\[S320\]](#). The 2026 counter-current: private-credit redemption gates (Blue Owl halted quarterly redemptions in one fund in February; Cliffwater received requests for 14% against a 7% cap) and Dimon's warning that private credit "does not tend to have great transparency or rigorous valuation marks" [\[S257\]](#)[\[S223\]](#).
- AI. Connect Coach lets advisers find information "up to 95% faster" and is expected to let them "expand client rosters by approximately 50%"; the firm has cut headcount 30 to 40% in some operations units [\[S213\]](#)[\[S336\]](#)[\[S232\]](#). Erdoes' position: "you need the combination of really smart AI and then really smart advisors" [\[S322\]](#).
- Fee compression below, resilience above. 83% of US advisers expected to charge under 1% for $5m+ clients by 2026; robo fees of 0.25%; the UHNW end holds up because value comes from lending, structuring and access [\[S204\]](#). Adviser supply is a constraint: 37% of US advisers plan to retire within ten years; the UK has about 31,000 advisers for 4.1m clients [\[S205\]](#).
- Regulation. The Consumer Duty, MiFID II suitability, client-categorisation reform, and financial-crime enforcement: Part 6.
- Tax migration. The UK's abolition of the non-dom regime from April 2025 and Gulf and Italian incentives pull mobile families; Henley's 2026 index scores the UK 68.3 against the UAE's 85.3, and British citizens are now about half of its applicants [\[S243\]](#)[\[S244\]](#).

- Talent movement. Bankers move with books; 2026 saw a Citi financial-institutions head join J.P. Morgan in London, UBS's UK head of private clients leave after 26 years, and Deutsche hire a Goldman managing director [\[S214\]](#)[\[S377\]](#).

5.6 Three competing views on the next three to five years

View 1: the big universal banks win

Scale in technology, balance sheet and alternatives access compounds; AI raises adviser productivity 50%; the referral engine of a universal bank is unmatched. Evidence: J.P. Morgan's $553bn of flows and 40% ROE against Julius Baer's falling profit; UBS's capital squeeze [\[S316\]](#)[\[S159\]](#)[\[S253\]](#). Held by: J.P. Morgan's own management; Morgan Stanley's.

View 2: the independents and multi-family offices take the top

UHNW families distrust house product and want open architecture, discretion and lower fees; family offices grow their own investment teams; boutiques and Swiss partnerships win on intimacy. Evidence: exclusive relationships halving to 19%; Pictet and Lombard Odier's steady growth; the "prefers J.P. Morgan managed strategies" disclosure [\[S200\]](#)[\[S160\]](#)[\[S161\]](#)[\[S195\]](#). Held by: the boutique and independent-adviser industry.

View 3: technology and regulation flatten the middle

AI and targeted support push advice down-market; fee compression hollows out the £1m to £10m segment; the survivors are giant platforms at the top and digital services below; the human adviser's remaining edge is judgment and complexity. Evidence: FCA targeted support live from April 2026; 83% of advisers expecting sub-1% fees; Chase UK's 2.8m customers [\[S120\]](#)[\[S204\]](#)[\[S74\]](#). Held by: fintech founders and some regulators.

YOUR OPINION GOES HERE

Pick one view and say why, in two sentences, with one number. A defensible answer for this interview: "I think View 1 is right at the top end and View 3 is right below it, which is exactly why J.P. Morgan keeps its Private Bank at £10m and up and runs Chase UK separately below."

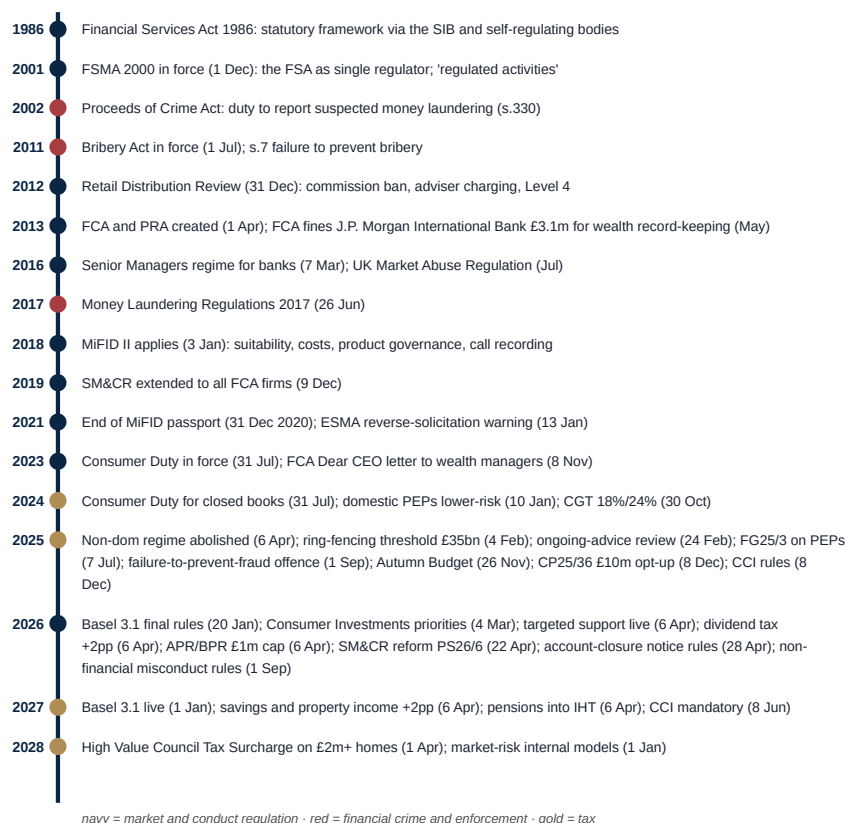

PART 6

The role's own industry and its regulation

The history that shaped UK private banking, the current regulatory direction with exact instruments and dates, financial crime and conduct, the tax context every London banker must know, qualifications, and cross-border rules.

6.1 The arc in one paragraph

Until 1986 the City largely regulated itself. The Financial Services Act 1986 created a statutory framework. The Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (FSMA) swept it into one regulator, the FSA, from 1 December 2001, using the concept of "regulated activities": you need permission to advise on investments, manage them, deal, arrange or take deposits. After the 2008 crisis the Financial Services Act 2012 split the FSA into the FCA (conduct) and the PRA (prudential, inside the Bank of England) on 1 April 2013. Since then the layers a private banker lives under are: the Retail Distribution Review (2012: how you are paid and qualified), MiFID II (2018: how you assess, disclose, record and govern), the Senior Managers and Certification Regime (2016 and 2019: personal accountability), the Consumer Duty (2023 and 2024: outcomes for retail clients), and a 2025 to 2027 "growth" wave: targeted support, client re-categorisation, a new disclosure regime, a slimmed-down accountability regime and Basel 3.1 [\[S141\]](#)[\[S144\]](#)[\[S146\]](#)[\[S120\]](#)[\[S121\]](#)[\[S126\]](#).

Sources: [\[S120\]](#)[\[S149\]](#)[\[S370\]](#). Dates verified against FCA, PRA, HMRC and legislation.gov.uk pages on 11 September 2026; see Part 6.

6.2 The instruments, with dates

Instrument	Date	What it does to a private banker's day
------------	------	--

Retail Distribution Review (FSA PS10/6)	In force 31 December 2012	Banned product-provider commission to advisers, replaced by adviser charging agreed with the client; raised the minimum adviser qualification to Level 4; created "independent" versus "restricted" advice labels [S141] .
MiFID II (FCA PS17/14)	Applied 3 January 2018	Suitability tests for advice and portfolio management; appropriateness tests for complex products sold without advice; a ban on most inducements; ex-ante and ex-post costs-and-charges disclosure; product governance; recording of calls and electronic messages that lead to transactions [S215] .
Senior Managers and Certification Regime	Banks 7 March 2016; all FCA firms 9 December 2019; reformed by PS26/6 published 22 April 2026 with changes effective 24 April, 10 July, 30 July and 1 September 2026	Senior managers hold statements of responsibility; a client-facing banker is a "certified person" (typically the client-dealing function) whose fitness and propriety the firm re-certifies at least annually; the Conduct Rules bind everyone: act with integrity; act with due skill, care and diligence; be open and cooperative with regulators; pay due regard to customers' interests and treat them fairly; observe proper standards of market conduct. Non-financial misconduct rules apply from 1 September 2026 [S144] [S145] .
Consumer Duty (FCA PS22/9)	Published 27 July 2022; in force 31 July 2023 for open products, 31 July 2024 for closed books	Principle 12: "A firm must act to deliver good outcomes for retail customers." Three cross-cutting rules: act in good faith; avoid causing foreseeable harm; enable customers to pursue their objectives. Four outcomes: products and services; price and value; consumer understanding; consumer support [S146] .
FCA "Dear CEO" letter to wealth managers	8 November 2023	Two priorities: financial crime and the Consumer Duty. Warned firms not to "uprate consumers from retail to professional unless this is supported by robust systems and controls" (14% of firms had done so); flagged that "many firms are not passing on fair interest on client money balances"; promised "more short notice and unannounced visits" [S124] . Replaced from March 2026 by a sector "Regulatory Priorities" report (4 March 2026) [S125] .
Ongoing advice review	24 February 2025	Across 22 large advice firms, 83% of promised suitability reviews were delivered; where no attempt was made, "it is likely redress will be due"; firms asked to look back to 2018 [S123] .
Targeted support (FCA PS25/22)	Rules published 11 December 2025; final 26 February 2026; in force 6 April 2026	Lets firms give "suggestions designed for groups of consumers with common characteristics" without a full personal recommendation; aimed at the mass-market advice gap of about 18m people; context rather than core for a UHNW bank [S120] [S247] .
Client categorisation reform (FCA CP25/36)	Published 8 December 2025; consultation closed 2 February 2026; final rules pending as of 11 September 2026	Proposes a new opt-up: a firm may treat a client as an elective professional where the client "has net investable assets... in excess of £10 million", with informed consent; scraps the old two-of-three quantitative test; strengthens the qualitative assessment; requires every existing elective professional to be re-reviewed within one year [S121] [S248] [S249] . Directly relevant to a book of clients above £10m.
Consumer Composite Investments (FCA PS25/20)	Final rules 8 December 2025; transitional from 6 April 2026; mandatory 8 June 2027	Replaces the PRIIPs "KID" with a "product summary"; distributors, including private banks advising retail clients, must highlight key information before sale [S122] .

Basel 3.1 (PRA PS1/26)	Final rules 20 January 2026; live 1 January 2027; market-risk internal models 1 January 2028	Capital rules that shape how a bank prices lending and deposits to private clients [S126] .
Ring-fencing threshold (SI 2025/30)	In force 4 February 2025	Core-deposit threshold raised from £25bn to £35bn; HM Treasury's May 2026 review proposes further easing. Relevant to Chase UK's growth, not to the Private Bank directly [S127] [S128] .

6.3 Financial crime and conduct

- Money Laundering Regulations 2017 (in force 26 June 2017), amended by SI 2023/1371 from 10 January 2024 so that a domestic politically exposed person starts as lower risk than a foreign one. The FCA's PEP guidance FG25/3 (7 July 2025) replaced FG17/6: UK PEPs lower-risk by default; the money-laundering reporting officer keeps oversight of every PEP relationship [\[S130\]](#). Source of wealth (how the total wealth was generated) and source of funds (where this transaction's money comes from) must be established for PEPs and high-risk situations; the FCA warns against "tick box compliance exercises" [\[S124\]](#).
- Proceeds of Crime Act 2002: section 330 makes it an offence for a person in the regulated sector who knows or suspects money laundering not to report internally; section 333A makes tipping off an offence. Bribery Act 2010 (1 July 2011): gifts and hospitality registers, no facilitation payments. Economic Crime and Corporate Transparency Act 2023: the corporate "failure to prevent fraud" offence in force from 1 September 2025 for large organisations, with a "reasonable procedures" defence [\[S129\]](#).
- UK Market Abuse Regulation: insider dealing, unlawful disclosure and manipulation; being "wall-crossed" makes you an insider and restricts you until the information is public. Criminal insider dealing sits in Part V of the Criminal Justice Act 1993.
- Enforcement to know. Barclays fined £42m in July 2025 for financial-crime failings, including opening an account for a wealth firm without checking the FCA register [\[S131\]](#); Nationwide £44m (December 2025) and Monzo £21m (July 2025) [\[S132\]](#); James Staley, the former JPMorgan private-banking head and Barclays CEO, fined £1.1m in July 2025 over his account of his Epstein relationship [\[S132\]](#); two Dolfin wealth-management executives banned in August 2026 over a scheme to bypass investor-visa rules [\[S133\]](#)[\[S134\]](#). No FCA fine on any JPMorgan UK entity in 2023 to 2026; the last was £3.1m on the old J.P. Morgan International Bank in 2013 for wealth-management record-keeping [\[S370\]](#). After the Coutts "debanking" episode of 2023, new rules from 28 April 2026 require 90 days' notice and reasons for account closures [\[S135\]](#).

6.4 The tax context a London banker must know

J.P. Morgan does not give UK tax advice; it works with the client's advisers. But every conversation in London now starts here.

Measure	Date	Detail
Non-dom regime abolished (Finance Act 2025)	6 April 2025	A four-year foreign-income-and-gains (FIG) exemption for arrivals after ten years of non-residence; a Temporary Repatriation Facility at 12% (2025 to 2027) then 15% (2027 to 2028) for bringing in old offshore income; rebasing of foreign assets to 5 April 2017 values; inheritance tax on worldwide assets for "long-term residents" (UK resident in 10 of the last 20 tax years) with a tail of three to ten years after leaving; offshore trusts lose their fixed excluded-property status [S136] [S137] .
Capital gains tax	30 October 2024	Main rates 18% and 24%; business asset disposal relief 14% from April 2025 and 18% from April 2026 [S149] [S138] .

Carried interest	April 2025; April 2026	32% from April 2025; taxed as trading income with a 72.5% multiplier from April 2026 (about 34% effective) [Reported, law-firm sources].
Autumn Budget 2025	26 November 2025	Dividend tax up two points to 10.75% and 35.75% from April 2026; savings and property income at 22%, 42% and 47% from April 2027; cash ISA limit £12,000 for under-65s from April 2027; a High Value Council Tax Surcharge of £2,500 to £7,500 on homes worth £2m or more from April 2028; thresholds and inheritance-tax nil-rate bands frozen to April 2031; no exit tax [S138][S139][S246].
Inheritance tax on pensions	Deaths from 6 April 2027	Unused pension funds come into the estate [S140].
Agricultural and business property relief	6 April 2026	100% relief on the first £1m (transferable between spouses), 50% above [S138][S139].

SAY THIS IN THE INTERVIEW

"The four-year FIG window, the 12 then 15 percent repatriation facility, and the ten-of-twenty-years inheritance-tax test have changed every international client's plan. J.P. Morgan's own wealth-advisory head said the firm was 'amazed at how many of our clients... have decided to stay', which tells me the job is planning for the ones who stay as much as for the ones who leave." [S31]

6.5 Qualifications

To advise on retail investment products a UK adviser needs a qualification on the FCA's Training and Competence tables that "fully meets requirement from 31 December 2012": the CISI Level 4 Investment Advice Diploma is the standard route; the CFA UK Investment Management Certificate covers securities advice and managing investments but not, on its own, retail investment products [S141][S142]. The CISI Level 7 Diploma in Wealth Management is the Chartered Wealth Manager qualification [S143]. Retail investment advisers also need an annual Statement of Professional Standing and 35 hours of continuing professional development. J.P. Morgan's UK banker postings prefer a "certificate in Investment Management level 4" and treat the CFA as "a plus"; whether the analyst programme funds the CISI exams could not be confirmed from a primary source [S44][S40].

6.6 Cross-border: why a London banker cannot freely advise an EU client

The UK's MiFID passport ended on 31 December 2020. A UK firm is now a "third-country firm" and may serve an EU-resident client only under a member state's national regime or "reverse solicitation", where the client initiated the service "at its own exclusive initiative". ESMA warned on 13 January 2021 that "where a third-country firm solicits clients or promotes investment services in the Union, it should not be deemed a service provided at the client's exclusive initiative" [S148]. In practice, EU-resident clients are booked and advised through J.P. Morgan SE (Frankfurt, created 24 January 2022, with branches in Dublin, Luxembourg, Paris, Madrid and Milan and a London branch "to service certain aspects of the firm's private banking business"), and Swiss clients through J.P. Morgan (Suisse) SA under FINMA [S147][S70]. This is why the EMEA structure has three regions and why the firm stresses its "uniform global model".

PART 7

What is happening right now

The last six months (11 March to 11 September 2026) for the firm, the sector and the role's regulation. Each story: what it is, why it matters to the firm, why it matters to a London Advisor, and one intelligent thing to raise.

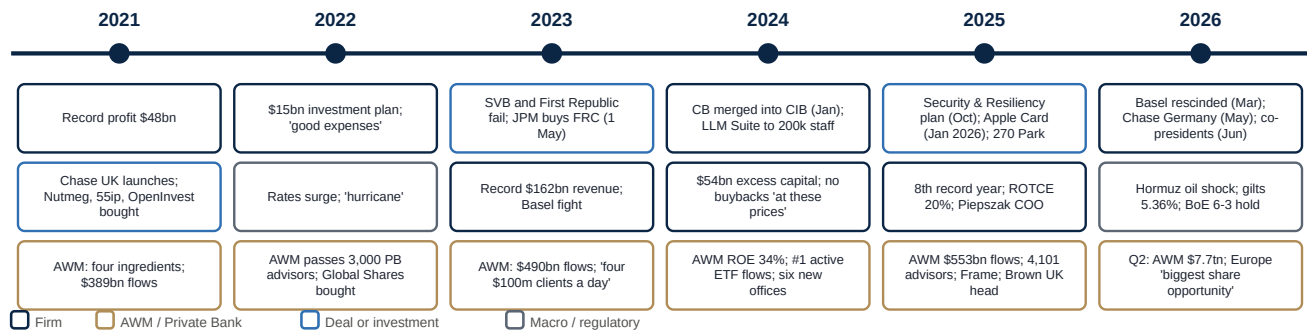

Figure 32. Six years in one line: firm, AWM and Private Bank events, deals and macro [S300].[S322][S220].[S259]

7.1 The twelve stories

1. JPMorgan's 2026 results: AWM client assets reach $7.7tn (14 April and 14 July 2026)

What. Q1: firm net income $16.5bn, ROTCE 23%; AWM revenue $6.4bn (+11%), client assets $7.1tn. Q2: net income $21.2bn ($16.9bn excluding a $4.6bn Visa gain), revenue $58.0bn (+27%); AWM revenue $6.85bn (+19%), net income $1.96bn (+33%), client assets $7.7tn, long-term inflows $50bn, expenses up 13% [S222][S220][S221]. "Revenue in each line of business hit a new record." Note that the "nearly 44,000 first-time investors" line belongs to Chase's wealth management, not the Private Bank [S220]. Firm. AWM is the steadiest, highest-margin fee engine (38% margin in Q2). Advisor. Inflows mean onboarding, proposals and demand for advisors; expense growth is partly "continued growth in private banking advisor teams" [S82]. Raise. "AWM expenses grew 13% against 19% revenue: how much of that is EMEA advisor hiring, and how is advisor productivity measured?"

2. Dimon's 2025 shareholder letter (6 April 2026): Iran, inflation, private credit, AI

What. The letter warned that the Iran conflict means oil and commodity shocks "for longer", that gradually rising inflation is underpriced, that private-credit losses are "a little higher than they should be" and that the asset class "does not tend to have great transparency or rigorous valuation marks", that parts of Basel are "frankly nonsensical", and that on AI the firm "cannot predict the ultimate winners and losers" [S223][S224]. Firm. Sets risk appetite and the case for the fortress ($291bn CET1, $1.5tn liquidity at Q1) [S222]. Advisor. Clients read it and ask "is Dimon right about inflation?" and "should I be in private credit?" Raise. "How does the Private Bank's alternatives platform choose private-credit managers and explain liquidity terms after the CEO's own warning?"

3. Succession: co-presidents named, Marianne Lake retires (25 June 2026)

What. Doug Petno (now sole CEO of the CIB) and Troy Rohrbaugh (CEO of Chase) became co-presidents; Lake retired after 25 years; Erdoes stays as CEO of AWM; each co-president received a $30m retention award [S226][S115]. Firm. The successor field narrows to two; AWM leadership is untouched. Advisor. Continuity for the EMEA build-out; the CIB-to-Private-Bank referral link now runs through Petno. Raise. "With the two co-presidents running CIB and Chase, how does the Private Bank make sure it captures liquidity events originated in the investment bank?"

4. Europe: Chase launches in Germany (20 May) and a possible $10 to 20bn acquisition (27 May)

What. Chase Germany opened with a savings account paying 4% for four months, a 150-person Berlin office under J.P. Morgan SE, and current accounts, investing and lending promised by 2028; the FT reported at least three more European countries by 2030 [S228][S229]. Dimon: "there might be, in the next couple years, a chance to put $10 [billion] or $20 billion to work" [S230]. Firm. Europe is the largest organic bet; a deal that size would be the largest of Dimon's tenure. Advisor. A European wealth manager is one plausible target given the Private Bank's stated sub-1% share in many markets. Raise. "If JPM did spend $20bn, would a European wealth manager make sense, or does the firm prefer to hire advisors thirty at a time?"

5. AI: "30% to 40%" of jobs cut in some units; Connect Coach in the Private Bank (14 July and 20 March 2026)

What. On the Q2 call Dimon said AI has removed 30 to 40% of headcount in some units, mostly redeployed, and that "you don't uniquely benefit from AI"; the firm spends about $20bn on technology and runs about 1,000 AI use cases [S232]. In the Private Bank, Connect Coach has 12,000 users and 25 agents; Euromoney's 2026 digital award cites 75%+ of eligible EMEA trades executed online [S236][S234]. Advisor. An intern will use these tools; the human skill left is judgment and relationships. Raise. "Erdoes says revenue per banker is up 15% since 2020. How much of the next 15% is Connect Coach, and what does an analyst do that the tool cannot?"

6. The EMEA and UK build-out: Euromoney's Europe award (20 March) and a UK head "in hiring mode" (May)

What. Euromoney's citation: EMEA revenue up about 14%, assets up about 25%, adviser headcount up 9% in the year to June 2025; offices opened or expanded in Munich, Hamburg, Berlin, Edinburgh and Glasgow; three regional heads under Garnica and Tejpaal; 1,000+ international relationship managers targeting about 1,900 [S233]. Citywire (snippet only) reports UK head Maricé Brown wants to add about 30 people a year and double the regional business in five years [S235]. Advisor. The London office is hiring; this internship is part of that plan. Raise. "The Euromoney citation describes JPM as a complementary partner to domestic banks. In the UK, with Coutts and Evelyn scaling up, what does 'complementary' mean for a £10m+ client?"

7. The house view: "Promise and Pressure" (11 May), Cembalest cautious on AI (22 July), a Fed hike expected (5 August)

What. The mid-year outlook keeps three themes (fragmentation, structural inflation, an AI super-cycle), calls the Strait of Hormuz closure "the largest oil supply shock since World War II", notes gold up 130% in three years, and pushes infrastructure, commodity-linked equities and macro hedge funds; Grace Peters: "Investors must walk a fine line" [S237]. Cembalest's Eye on the Market turned "cautious" on US equity technicals as semiconductor stocks surged (SOXX +90% in a year) while hyperscalers stalled [S238]. On 5 August J.P. Morgan Wealth Management moved to expecting a 25 basis point Fed hike at the 16 September meeting [S239]. Advisor. Every client call this summer is about oil, gold, AI concentration and locking in 5%+ gilt yields. Raise. "The outlook backs infrastructure and security themes while Cembalest warns AI technicals look like 1999. How does the team reconcile the two for a client with concentrated tech stock?"

8. The macro clients ask about: the Hormuz oil shock, the Bank of England at 3.75% with three votes to hike, gilts at 5.36%

What. Fighting with Iran began on 28 February 2026; the World Bank says the Hormuz disruption "triggered the largest oil market shock in history", with Brent up 65% in March [S225]. The Bank of England held Bank Rate at 3.75% on 30 July by six votes to three, with three members voting to hike; CPI 2.6% but "expected to rise later this year"; next decision 17 September [S258]. The UK ten-year gilt yield was 5.36% on 11 September, the highest since 2007, with markets pricing four hikes by mid-2027 [S227]. Advisor. Clients with sterling loans face higher costs; "why not just buy gilts?" is the most common objection to a diversified portfolio; savings income tax rises to 22/42/47% from April 2027. Raise. "With ten-year gilts above 5.3% and gilt gains exempt from capital gains tax, how does the UK team think about low-coupon gilts versus a bond fund for a top-rate taxpayer?"

9. UK tax on wealthy clients: the Budget measures biting, a quiet Spring Statement (3 March), the "exodus" debate (16 June)

What. Part 6.4 lists the measures. The Spring Statement announced no new tax rises but the OBR expects a "temporary boost" from the repatriation facility ^[S245]. Henley's June report dropped its contested millionaire headcounts and now scores the UK 68.3 against the UAE's 85.3; British citizens are about half of its applicants; its essayist argues inheritance tax is "the biggest single driver of relocation" ^{[S243][S244]}. No confirmed 2026 policy U-turn on non-dom inheritance tax was found. Advisor. The daily conversation: leave, use the facility, restructure trusts, or accept the £2m property surcharge. J.P. Morgan can win either way if departing clients keep it as their international bank. Raise. "Henley stopped publishing outflow numbers after methodological criticism. What data does the UK team use to judge whether relocation is a trend or a headline?"

10. Regulation and conduct: targeted support live (6 April), the £10m opt-up pending, an ECB fine, the Staley transcript (August)

What. Targeted support went live on 6 April 2026 ^[S247]; CP25/36's £10m opt-up awaits final rules ^{[S248][S249]}; FCA fines in 2026 total about £18m, all on individuals in wealth management, none on a UK private bank ^[S250]; the ECB fined J.P. Morgan SE €12.2m in February for misreporting risk-weighted assets, self-reported ^[S251]; in August a transcript showed former executive Jes Staley telling a House committee he had shared confidential information with Epstein, including "$44 billion in private bank inflows over two weeks" ^[S259]. Advisor. Client categorisation, fair-value evidence and financial-crime red flags are front-line work; the Epstein case is the cautionary tale of a profitable client overriding compliance. Raise. "If the £10m opt-up is finalised, would the UK Private Bank move most of its book to professional status, or keep retail protections as a service differentiator?"

11. Competitors: UBS record quarter amid a capital fight; Morgan Stanley passes $10tn; Coutts completes Evelyn (30 June)

What. UBS: Q2 net profit $2.8bn, wealth pre-tax profit $2.0bn (+38%), $36bn of net new assets, but "UBS continues to strongly disagree with the proposed package, which is extreme" on Swiss capital rules that could require about $20bn more capital ^{[S252][S253]}. Morgan Stanley Wealth: record $8.9bn revenue, record $148bn net new assets, $10tn of client assets ^{[S254][S255]}. NatWest completed the £2.7bn Evelyn Partners purchase into Coutts, creating a £127bn business ^[S256]. Advisor. Coutts and Evelyn become the domestic scale player for £1m to £10m; J.P. Morgan's UK positioning is UHNW and international; UBS's capital squeeze is an opening in Europe and the Gulf. Raise. "Does the Private Bank see UBS's capital problem as a hiring or client-acquisition opportunity in London and Dubai, and how does it avoid overpaying for teams?"

12. Private-credit stress: semi-liquid funds gate redemptions (25 March)

What. In Q1 2026 redemption requests at semi-liquid private-credit funds far exceeded caps: Blue Owl halted quarterly redemptions in one fund, Cliffwater received requests for 14% against a 7% cap, BlackRock TCP wrote down net asset value 19%; Carlyle's Harvey Schwartz: "We just should have called them 'sometimes not liquid at all.'" ^[S257]. J.P. Morgan marked down software-loan collateral and restricted lending to private-credit funds on 11 March ^[S112]. Advisor. Clients who bought evergreen private credit for yield ask why they cannot get out; explaining gates, marks and the seven-to-ten-year lock-up needed to earn the illiquidity premium is a core skill. Raise. "After the gates, has the Private Bank changed how it explains liquidity on semi-liquid funds, and does it favour drawdown funds for clients who can lock up capital?"

7.2 The reading list

A separate file, `Reading_List.md`, carries the full list with links. The recurring sources to follow, in order of value for this application: J.P. Morgan Private Bank's Top Market Takeaways (weekly) and Eye on the Market; the Outlook and Mid-Year Outlook; the Global Family Office Report; the quarterly earnings page (Q3 2026 results are due in mid-October, before the 1 November deadline); the 2025 annual report letters; Reuters banks coverage; Citywire Wealth Manager and WealthBriefing for UK moves; Private Banker International; Euromoney's private banking awards; the FCA news page; HM Treasury and HMRC for tax; the Bank of England's monetary policy summaries (next decision 17 September 2026); FT Wealth and Bloomberg's Odd Lots for the plumbing of private credit.

PART 8

Forming your own view: both sides of every argument

Six live debates, each with the strongest case on both sides and the number that matters. The interviewers reward a defended position over a safe one.

8.1 Is the integrated team model better than the adviser-owns-the-client model?

For the team model

Clients get five specialists; retention survives banker departures ("over 95% don't leave" [\[S318\]](#)); no product-pushing incentives; the firm can seed young bankers rather than pay for books. Revenue per banker rose 15% while headcount rose 64% [\[S316\]](#).

Against

It is expensive (compensation is 56% of AWM cost [\[S82\]](#)); coordination is slow; the best bankers earn less than on a wirehouse grid and can leave for one; the client may feel handled by a committee. Morgan Stanley's adviser-owned model produced $148bn of net new assets in one quarter [\[S255\]](#).

YOUR OPINION GOES HERE

Suggested position: the team model wins above £10m where complexity is the product; the grid model wins in the mass-affluent segment where speed and personality are. That is why J.P. Morgan runs both, in different divisions.

8.2 Is a bank-owned private bank a conflict of interest?

Yes, and it matters

The EMEA site states the firm "prefers J.P. Morgan managed strategies" and earns more when they are used [\[S195\]](#); the investment bank's deals are one wall away; the Epstein record shows revenue overriding compliance [\[S108\]](#). The FCA's 2023 letter warned wealth managers about "providing a product or service which does not align with the needs of consumers" [\[S124\]](#).

Yes, and it is managed

850+ external alternatives managers; "no fiduciary manager should dictate choice" [\[S315\]](#); 83% of ten-year active assets beat peers, so the house product is defensible on performance [\[S316\]](#); three lines of defence; suitability under MiFID II and the Consumer Duty [\[S82\]](#) [\[S146\]](#). A boutique with no product has its own conflict: it must recommend something and cannot lend.

YOUR OPINION GOES HERE

Suggested position: every model has a conflict; the question is whether it is disclosed, governed and outperformed. Ask the interviewer how the team handles the in-house versus third-party choice when the fee differs, and listen for a process rather than a denial.

8.3 Is J.P. Morgan's Europe push a share gain or a hard slog?

Share gain

EMEA revenue +14%, assets +25%, advisers +9% [S233]; UBS distracted by capital rules [S253]; Julius Baer weakened by losses [S159]; Coutts digesting Evelyn [S256]; the referral engine and balance sheet travel well; "below 1%" share means a long runway [S316].

Hard slog

UBS's $4.8tn against about $750bn international; local heritage in every market; the UK tax changes push away the international families that are J.P. Morgan's core; new offices in Germany face Deutsche and the Swiss; hiring "30 a year" is small against the target of doubling [S155][S320][S66].

YOUR OPINION GOES HERE

Suggested position: a share gain in the UHNW and founder segment, a slog in domestic mass affluent. The firm agrees: it named UHNW Europe, not retail Europe, as the Private Bank's target and put Chase UK in a different division.

8.4 Will AI replace the private banker?

Largely yes, over time

Connect Coach already drafts talking points and flags clients; advisers find information 95% faster; books can grow 50%; SpectrumIQ automated 75% of equity trading; 30 to 40% of jobs cut in some units [S213][S336][S316][S232]. Fewer bankers with bigger books is the direction.

No, it changes the job

"If a client says, 'I don't like fixed income'... that's not the right answer, but that's where AI will go" (Erdoes) [S322]; trust, discretion and disagreement are human; the Consumer Duty requires a person accountable for outcomes; clients pay for judgment at a liquidity event, not for information.

YOUR OPINION GOES HERE

Suggested position: AI removes the preparation and the paperwork and raises the bar for the human part. The Advisor of 2030 has more clients, less admin, and is judged more on judgment.

8.5 Should a wealthy client be in private credit now?

Yes, carefully

The illiquidity premium is real for capital that can be locked up; J.P. Morgan backs fewer than six direct-lending managers out of 3,500+ funds and focuses on larger borrowers; spreads have narrowed but fundamentals are "very stable" per its alternatives head [S203]. The Long-Term Capital Market Assumptions still favour private markets [S193].

Not in semi-liquid form

Gates at Blue Owl and Cliffwater; a 19% write-down at BlackRock TCP; "sometimes not liquid at all"; Dimon on marks that lack rigour; J.P. Morgan itself restricting lending to private-credit funds [S257][S223][S112].

YOUR OPINION GOES HERE

Suggested position: drawdown funds for the patient portion of a large portfolio; semi-liquid vehicles only where the client understands they may be illiquid; never for money with a date on it.

8.6 Is London still the place to build a private banking career?

Yes

The seat of J.P. Morgan's International Private Bank; English law and trust infrastructure; the time zone; the deepest capital markets outside New York; Gulf, African and European families still route through it; the firm is hiring in London, Manchester and Edinburgh [\[S65\]](#)[\[S46\]](#).

Less than before

Non-dom abolition; a Henley score of 68.3 against the UAE's 85.3; British citizens half of Henley's applicants; a Saudi headquarters licence and 100+ Middle East hires; Dubai teams growing [\[S243\]](#)[\[S351\]](#)[\[S350\]](#).

YOUR OPINION GOES HERE

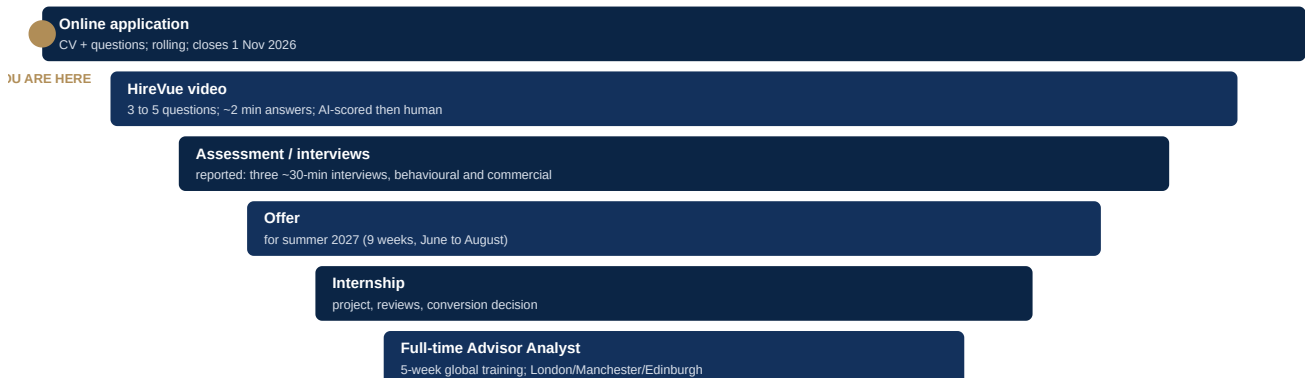

Suggested position: London is where the clients are advised even when they are no longer resident, which is the whole point of a uniform global model. Say that, and say you would want time in Dubai or Geneva later.

PART 9

The interview: process, question bank, questions to ask

The stages with confidence levels, what this round consists of, timelines, a 45-question bank with what each really tests, and ten questions only a researched candidate could ask.

9.1 The process, with confidence

Sources: JD [S1]; JPM programme pages [S360][S361]; reported process from coaching sites and forums [S353]-[S358] (reported/anecdotal). Confidence per stage in Part 9.

Stage	What it consists of	Confidence and source
0. Rolling review	"We will be filling our classes on a rolling basis. We strongly encourage you to submit your application as early as possible." "Programs will close as positions are filled." The firm "cannot accelerate" decisions [S264][S266]. The posting was stamped 31 August 2026 in the careers system and closes 1 November 2026; the 2026 cycle opened 16 September 2025 and closed 2 November 2025 [S260][S263].	CONFIRMED
1. Online application	CV and profile; an email address that is not ".edu"; choose London. Written motivation questions are not mentioned in the postings; one London applicant in September 2026 reported going to HireVue "straight after applying with no online assessment beforehand" [S263][S272]. The firm recommends "no more than three summer internship program applications"; a withdrawn application still counts [S266][S282].	CONFIRMED mechanics; REPORTED absence of essays
2. Games assessment	Probably not used for this programme in 2026 to 2027: the postings name only HireVue; a prep vendor states the firm has retired pymetrics; the September 2026 London report saw none [S294][S272][S265]. If an invitation arrives, note "many assessments may not be retaken" [S266].	REPORTED , leaning strongly to "not used"
3. HireVue video interview	Mandatory: "your application will not be considered for further review until you have completed" it [S265][S290]. Reported format for the Private Bank: three questions (plan for up to five), 30 seconds to prepare, two minutes to answer, one retry per question; "motivational and behavioural questions as well as commercial knowledge questions" [S272][S269][S270]. Deadline windows reported from 24 hours to 7 days; read your invitation [S279][S296]. Scoring: reported as AI-assisted on content and clarity followed by human review; facial analysis was dropped in 2021 [S285][S295]. The firm's own guidance: "professional business attire and a distraction-free environment" [S266].	CONFIRMED mandatory and timing; REPORTED scoring

4. Tests	No numerical or coding test is reported for the Private Bank (Markets adds a maths test; Technology adds HackerRank) [S281][S291].	REPORTED , consistent
5. Final round	US Private Bank reports: three interviews of 20 to 25 minutes with vice presidents and managing directors, "2 technically heavy interviews and one with more behavioral/situation based questions", where "technical" means markets and asset allocation, not modelling [S273]. London-specific reports for the Private Bank were not found; generic London reports describe back-to-back interviews, sometimes with a group exercise or case [S284][S285]. Interviewers are bankers and advisors, not HR.	REPORTED US; London format is a gap
6. Timelines	HireVue to final round two to three weeks (one 2025 report: HireVue in September, final round in October); offer one to five business days to two weeks after [S285][S276][S282]. End to end six to ten weeks [S281].	REPORTED
7. Conversion	"Top performing interns who successfully complete the program may receive an offer of full-time employment" [S268]. Reported return-offer rates of 60 to 80% are for investment banking; no Private Bank figure [S276][S291].	CONFIRMED policy; rate [Reported, anecdotal]

What the firm says it assesses. "Hiring the whole person, not just a set of skills"; people who are "Tenacious", "Critical thinkers", "Collaborative", "Compelling", "High performers" [S267]. For the Private Bank: "a unique blend of interpersonal and analytical skills", interest in markets, investing and economics, "integrity, proactivity, and good judgment with confidential information", "excellent communication and presentation skills" [S268]. On-demand video interviews are said to assess "language proficiency, verbal presentation, and technical abilities" [S266]. Practicalities: graduating January to July 2028; penultimate year; nine weeks from June to August; pay is not published, aggregators put London summer analysts at an annualised £42,000 to £44,000, roughly £800 to £850 a week [S260][S263][S298] [Reported, anecdotal].

DON'T SAY THIS

Do not confuse divisions. "The Private Bank is a separate division targeting ultra-high-net-worth clients. Mixing these up in an interview is an immediate red flag" [S287]. Chase Wealth Management, J.P. Morgan Asset Management and the Private Bank are three different businesses.

9.2 The question bank

Forty-five questions grouped by type. For each: what is really being tested, a structure, the facts from this pack to weave in, and the trap. These are scaffolds. Questions marked with a source are reported from candidates or coaching sites; the rest are the author's inference from the posting.

Motivation and fit

Question	Tests	Structure	Facts to weave in	Trap
1. What attracts you to J.P. Morgan, and specifically an opportunity in Global Private Bank? [S269][S272]	Whether you understand the mechanism or only the brand	One mechanism, one number, one thing about you, one thing you want to work on	Referral engine; seeded books; balance sheet; Europe as the share opportunity; Part 12	"Global leader", "prestige", "learning"
2. Why the Private Bank and not the investment bank or asset management? [S277]	Self-knowledge; whether you want a client-facing sales role	What the seat is; why that suits you; evidence from your life	"Relationship building and sales capacity" in the posting; the five-seat team	Describing an investing job
3. Why the Advisor track rather than Investment Solutions?	Whether you have read both postings	Banker versus Investor; the trade-off you accept	Investment Solutions is "the development pipeline to subject matter experts" [S47]	Not knowing the other exists

4. What is the difference between AWM and the Private Bank? [S277]	Structural literacy	Two halves of one segment; the numbers	AM $11.7bn, GPB $12.4bn; 73% recurring revenue [S82][S320]	Treating them as the same
5. Why J.P. Morgan rather than Goldman, Morgan Stanley or a family office? [S288]	Competitive awareness without overclaiming	Two mechanisms only J.P. Morgan has; one thing a rival does better	Part 4.3 and 4.4	"Best at everything"
6. Where do you see yourself in five years?	Realism about the path	Analyst, Associate, choosing Banker; the qualifications; what you want to be known for	The five-week global training; "many analysts are promoted to Associates" [S46]	"Running my own fund"
7. Walk me through your CV.	Narrative discipline	Two minutes; a thread; end on why this seat	Part 11's CV grill	Reciting the CV

Behavioural and competency

Question	Tests	Structure	Facts to weave in	Trap
8. A time you worked in a team to accomplish an important goal [S272]	Collaboration; your specific role	Situation, your action, result, what you'd do differently	"No side accounting groups"; team goal language in postings [S40]	Using "we" for everything
9. A time you made a mistake and what you learned [S272]	Business Principle 12: face facts	A real mistake with a consequence; the fix; the habit you built	The firm's own record of admitting errors (Part 2.9)	A humble-brag mistake
10. A time you had to be persistent to reach a goal [S279]	Sales resilience	The number of attempts; what changed; the outcome	Prospecting is most of a junior banker's week	Persistence without adaptation
11. A difficult client, customer or stakeholder [S279][S277]	Composure and empathy	Steady, sort, act, close (Part 11)	"Banking is not a commodity"	Blaming the client
12. A time you built trust with someone new [S270]	The core skill of the seat	What they needed; what you did that cost you something; the proof	"The more you know about me... how could I ever not be with you" [S322]	Trust as a feeling rather than an act
13. A time you handled sensitive information with discretion [S288]	The posting's discretion criterion	What you knew; who wanted it; what you did	Part 1.6	Revealing the confidential thing in the answer
14. A time you disagreed with a team and both positions were reasonable [S286]	Judgment; conceding without folding	The two positions; the test you applied; the result	Erdoes on advisors who disagree with clients	Pretending you were simply right
15. A time you evaluated an AI answer you did not trust [S286]	A 2027-cycle theme; critical thinking	What the tool said; how you checked; what you changed	Connect Coach; "really smart AI and really smart advisors" [S322]	Either trusting or dismissing AI wholesale
16. A time you convinced someone with data [S277]	Analytical communication	The claim; the two numbers; the outcome	Any figure from this pack you can defend	Too many numbers
17. A time you went above and beyond for someone [S277]	Service instinct	The need nobody asked you to meet; what it cost; the result	"Every client feel like our only one" [S316]	Describing your job description

18. How do you handle stress and multiple deadlines? [S277]	The "multitask" criterion	A system, not a mood	The worked day (Part 1.2)	"I thrive on stress"
19. A time your suggestion was rejected [S280]	Coachability	The idea; the reason it lost; what you did next	"Player-coach" culture	Resentment
20. A time you helped someone make a financial decision [S277]	Advice instinct	Their goal; the options; what you recommended and why; the outcome	The four lenses	Giving regulated advice you were not qualified to give; say you framed options

Markets and commercial awareness

Question	Tests	Structure	Facts to weave in	Trap
21. What factors have influenced markets recently and how might they affect our clients? [S272] [S278]	The "genuine interest" criterion, with the client lens	Three factors; one client consequence each; one view	Hormuz oil shock; gilts at 5.36%; Bank of England 6-3 hold; Fed hike expected; AI concentration; gold [S225] [S227] [S258] [S239] [S238]	Reciting headlines with no "so what"
22. Tell us about a recent article on financial markets. [S272]	Reading habit	What it said; what you think; what a wealthy client should do	Eye on the Market on AI technicals; the Mid-Year Outlook [S238] [S237]	Choosing a tabloid story
23. How do banks make money: investment banking, wealth management, lending, sales and trading? [S275]	Basic business literacy	One sentence each; then the Private Bank's four legs	Part 2.2; fees $15.5bn, NII $6.8bn in AWM [S82]	Muddling fees and spread
24. What are the greatest challenges facing financial services in five years? [S278]	Industry view	Three forces; the one that matters most for private banking; why	Part 5.5 and 5.6	"Fintech disruption" with no mechanism
25. Where would you invest your own money now? Which asset classes suit UHNW clients? [S275] [S272]	Conviction and suitability instinct	Your allocation; the client's is different because of horizon and liquidity	LTCMA returns; 15 to 30% alternatives; gold up 130% [S193] [S33] [S237]	Hot stock tips
26. Define HNW and UHNW. [S275]	Vocabulary	$1m and $30m by convention; J.P. Morgan's ladder	Part 5.2	Guessing
27. What are the risks of emerging markets? [S277]	Structured thinking	Currency, liquidity, governance, geopolitics; then why the house still likes them	"The new strategic investment case for emerging markets" [S36]	One-sided answer
28. Will the Bank of England hike? What does it mean for a client with a £20m mortgage?	Applied macro	The vote split; the pricing; the client's floating cost; the hedge	3.75%, 6-3, four hikes priced [S258] [S227]	Forgetting the client
29. Is AI a bubble?	Handling a contested question	Both sides; where you land; what a client should do about concentration	Cembalest's four risks; Erdoes: "AI itself is not a bubble" (reported) [S36]	Certainty
30. Why would a wealthy client not just buy gilts at 5.3%?	The most common client objection	Inflation, currency, concentration, tax on coupons versus gains, opportunity cost	Savings tax to 22/42/47% from 2027 [S138]	Agreeing with the client

Client scenarios (see Part 11 for the method)

Question	Tests	Structure	Facts to weave in	Trap
31. A client wants 100% in tech stocks. [S277]	Suitability instinct	Acknowledge; ask why; show the concentration risk; propose a path	Cembalest on AI concentration [S238]	Either refusing or complying
32. A client lost 20% last year and wants to leave. [S277]	Composure; retention	Listen; review against the plan and the benchmark; involve the Investor and team lead; no promises	"Clients vote with their feet"	Defensiveness
33. A client asks about cryptocurrency. [S277]	Handling a request outside the shelf	What the house offers and does not; the risks; the small-allocation frame; escalate	89% of family offices hold none [S240]	Personal opinion as advice
34. Explain a 60/40 portfolio, or asset allocation to a nervous client. [S277] [S288]	Plain English	One sentence definition; one analogy; the client's own numbers	LTCMA: adding 30% alternatives lifts 60/40 from 6.4% to 6.9% [S193]	Jargon
35. Justify a 1% fee. [S277]	Value articulation	What the fee buys (team, balance sheet, access, performance record); what it does not	Part 3.3	Apologising for the fee
36. You discover a colleague recommending unsuitable products. [S277]	Conduct rules	Rules first; escalate; document; do not confront alone	SM&CR conduct rules; Consumer Duty [S144] [S146]	Doing nothing "to be a team player"
37. Markets crash tomorrow: your communication plan. [S277]	Proactive service	Who first (biggest exposure, most anxious); what message (the plan, not the prediction); who does what	Connect Coach flags; "prepare for the worst"	Waiting for calls
38. Advise a founder one week after a $100m exit: first, second, third. [S288]	Sequencing	Safety of cash and KYC; the plan and the four lenses; phased deployment; then structuring you should have started a year earlier	Pre-liquidity planning [S198]	Starting with products
39. Earn trust with a sceptical prospect. [S288]	Sales craft	Ask, listen, bring one useful thing, follow up, never oversell	Referrals convert best; centres of influence	Pitching
40. A client mentions their listed company is "about to be bought".	Market abuse	Stop; do not act; tell compliance; document	Part 11 decision tree two	Telling the Investor
41. A managing director asks you to open an account before the documents arrive.	Controls under pressure	Rule; fastest compliant path; escalate if pushed	Part 11 decision tree one	"Just this once"
42. A client wants to move to Dubai because of the tax changes. What do you say?	Live UK context	Not tax advice; the residence facts; how the bank serves them in both places; involve the Wealth Advisor	Part 6.4; "amazed at how many... have decided to stay" [S31]	Giving tax advice

Questions the intern-specific process has raised

Question	Tests	Structure	Facts to weave in	Trap
----------	-------	-----------	-------------------	------

43. How do you stay informed about markets? [S277]	Habit	Three named sources and what you take from each	Top Market Takeaways; Eye on the Market; the Bank of England summary	"The news"
44. What would you do in the first week if we gave you a client list?	Practical sense	Read the files; learn the four lenses per family; ask the CSA what is outstanding; ask the banker which three matter most this quarter	Part 1.2	"Call them all"
45. Do you have any questions for us?	Whether you did the work	Two from 9.3, chosen for the interviewer's seat	Below	"What's the culture like?"

9.3 Ten questions only a researched candidate could ask

1. "The UK banker postings are cut by market team: UK Team, Entrepreneurs and Executives, Financial Institutions under Paul Ferry, Institutional Wealth, and a London-based Middle East desk. Which team would an intern most likely sit with, and does the client work differ between the domestic and the international teams?"
2. "Every banker posting says 'partner with other Client Advisors in the team to maximise team strength', and the Middle East posting lists the specialist bench: Investor, Capital Advisor, Trust and Estate Advisor, Wealth Advisor. How does an intern get exposure across those seats rather than only shadowing bankers?"
3. "The Lending Advisor posting calls the role 'internal sales leader for the credit product'. How much of a UK team's growth today comes from lending versus discretionary mandates?"
4. "Adam Tejpaal told Euromoney the biggest share opportunity is 'within the European franchise', with EMEA adviser headcount up 9% and assets up 25%. Where does the UK sit in that mix against Continental Europe and the Middle East?"
5. "James Chilvers' team specialises in legacy non-domiciled individuals. After April 2025, how has the split between Maya Prabhu's UK domestic book and the internationally mobile clients shifted, and what did the 'amazed at how many decided to stay' comment mean in practice?"
6. "The FCA's CP25/36 would let clients with over £10m opt up to professional status and require every existing elective professional to be re-reviewed within a year. If finalised, would the UK Private Bank move most of its book, or keep retail protections as a differentiator?"
7. "Erdoes has said advisor hiring will 'normalize later this decade' and that home-grown advisors are half of new hires. What does that mean for the 2029 analyst class, and how many of the current UK bankers came through the programme?"
8. "Connect Coach is on 12,000 desks. What has it changed in a London banker's morning, and what has it not?"
9. "The Investment Solutions internship was posted the same day as this one and describes itself as 'the development pipeline to subject matter experts'. How do the two intern cohorts interact on a client proposal?"
10. "What is the single deliverable a London Private Bank intern is most often judged on by week nine, and who reviews it?"

PART 10

Interviewer briefing

No interviewer names were supplied, so this part gives the two interviewer types you will meet, how to read which one you have in front of you, and the public professional profiles of the UK Private Bank leaders whose teams run the process. Public professional information only.

10.1 Who interviews for this programme

The HireVue is recorded and reviewed by a mix of software and people; the human reviewers are typically campus recruiters and programme managers ^{[S285][S295]}. The final round for the Private Bank is reported (US accounts) as three conversations with vice presidents and managing directors, that is, practitioners: bankers, investors and team heads, not HR ^[S273]. Campus recruiting for the International Private Bank is led by Harry Monroe, Head of International Private Bank Talent Acquisition, under Carly Pierpoint, Global Head of AWM Recruitment, who sells the job on "the ability to capitalize on full wallet, which most other firms can't provide" ^[S69].

10.2 The two types, and how to read which you have

The practitioner (banker, investor, team head)

Signs: asks "what would you do if a client..."; follows up on a market view; mentions their own clients; is short on process questions. What they are testing: would I put this person in front of my client in year two? Are they curious about people and markets? Can they hold a frame under pressure? How to pitch: concrete, client-first, brief; show the priority order (rules, client, process, speed); have two market views with a "so what"; ask them about their book (question 3 or 5 in Part 9.3).

The recruiter or programme manager

Signs: structured competency questions ("tell me about a time..."); checks eligibility and motivation; takes notes against a grid; asks about other applications. What they are testing: the five stated qualities ("tenacious, critical thinkers, collaborative, compelling, high performers" ^[S267]); fit with the posting's disposition list; whether you understand which programme you applied to. How to pitch: STAR-shaped answers with a clear "I"; name the programme correctly (Advisor track, not Investment Solutions); show you read the how-we-hire pages; ask about the programme structure (question 9 or 10).

Adapting live. If a practitioner asks a competency question, answer it with a client-shaped example. If a recruiter asks a market question, keep it simple and end with what it means for a client. If you cannot tell, assume practitioner: the downside of being too concrete with a recruiter is small; the downside of being too generic with a banker is fatal. No manipulation; read, adapt, be the same person in both rooms.

10.3 The UK leadership whose teams run the seat (public professional profiles)

These are the people whose teams an intern would sit with. Identity is confirmed against the firm's own London page; anything beyond role, tenure, career path and public writing is excluded ^[S55].

Person	Role and tenure	Career path and public professional footprint

Maricé Brown	Region Head, UK, Channel Islands & Ireland, since Q3 2025	18+ years at the Private Bank; ran the Mexico market, earlier Central Texas and a Silicon Valley team; MBA (Darden). Publicly reported goals: about 30 hires a year, doubling the regional business in five years (snippet) [S56] [S66] . Implication: she is building; expect questions about growth and resilience.
Diana Robinson	Head of Investments & Advice, UK, Ireland & Channel Islands	Runs the Investors; joined in 2016 as Head of Equities EMEA; ran International Private Bank investments in Asia before returning; listed in Spear's 2026 [S374] [S375] . Implication: an investments-led interviewer will probe your market views.
Maya Prabhu	Team Head, UK Domestic and Crown Dependencies	About 20 years; leads a team of client advisors; STEP faculty [S60] . Implication: a domestic-book interviewer will care about UK tax and planning fluency.
Khayyam Jumani	Team Head and Senior Client Advisor, UK North (Manchester)	Opened the Manchester office in 2023; earlier covered Scotland and Northern England; Investment Management Certificate and Investment Advice Diploma [S59] [S67] . Implication: regional coverage is a live theme; know why the firm is building outside London.
Zeynep Ozturk Unlu	Team Head, Institutional Wealth Group	24+ years in institutional sales, trading and family-office coverage (bio snippet) [S40] [S55] . Implication: family-office clients want deal flow and institutional terms.
Paul Ferry	Team Head, Financial Institutions Group, since about November 2025	Joined from Citi Private Bank where he led financial-sector coverage in EMEA; earlier ICAP and Merrill Lynch [S377] . Implication: a new build; private equity and hedge fund partners are the clients.
James Chilvers	Head of UK Wealth Advisory	Joined 2017 from Macfarlanes; trust and estate practitioner; co-author of the firm's "Thinking of moving to the UK?" note [S58] [S30] . Implication: the non-dom conversation runs through his team.
Grace Peters	Co-Head of Global Investment Strategy, London	Author of the Outlook and Mid-Year Outlook; quoted: "Investors must walk a fine line" [S62] [S237] . Implication: the house view you should be able to summarise.

SOURCE UNCERTAIN

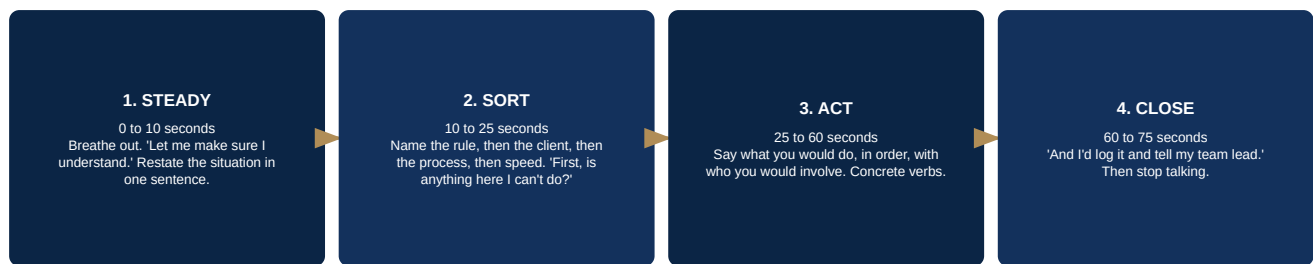

Deepak Chander is listed as a Team Head on the London page but no public profile could be opened to confirm his coverage. The senior leaders (Frame, Tejpal, Garnica) will not interview interns. If you learn interviewer names, research only their public professional profile: role, tenure, prior firms, public writing.

PART 11

The scenario playbook

The frame-holding method, the priority order, eight frame-breaking tactics and their counters, how to stay calm, three scenarios for every duty in the posting, a composure set with decision trees, and the CV grill.

11.1 The four-step protocol

Total 45 to 75 seconds. Longer answers invite the interruption; shorter ones invite the follow-up you want.

Author's method; the priority order in step 2 follows the Business Principles [S323] and the Consumer Duty [S206].

Step	Time	Exact phrases	What it does
1. Steady	0 to 10 s	"Let me make sure I've understood." Restate in one sentence: "So the client wants X by Y and the issue is Z."	Buys thinking time; proves listening; removes the emotional charge.
2. Sort	10 to 25 s	"First, is there anything here I can't do?" Then: "Second, what does the client actually need? Third, what's the right process? Then, how fast can I do it?"	Applies the priority order out loud, so the interviewer hears the frame before the answer.
3. Act	25 to 60 s	"I'd [verb] first, then [verb], and I'd bring in [person] because [reason]." Concrete verbs: check, call, draft, escalate, document.	Shows you know who does what in the team (Part 1).
4. Close	60 to 75 s	"And I'd log it and tell my team lead the same day." Then stop.	Ends on the record and the escalation; silence invites the follow-up you want.

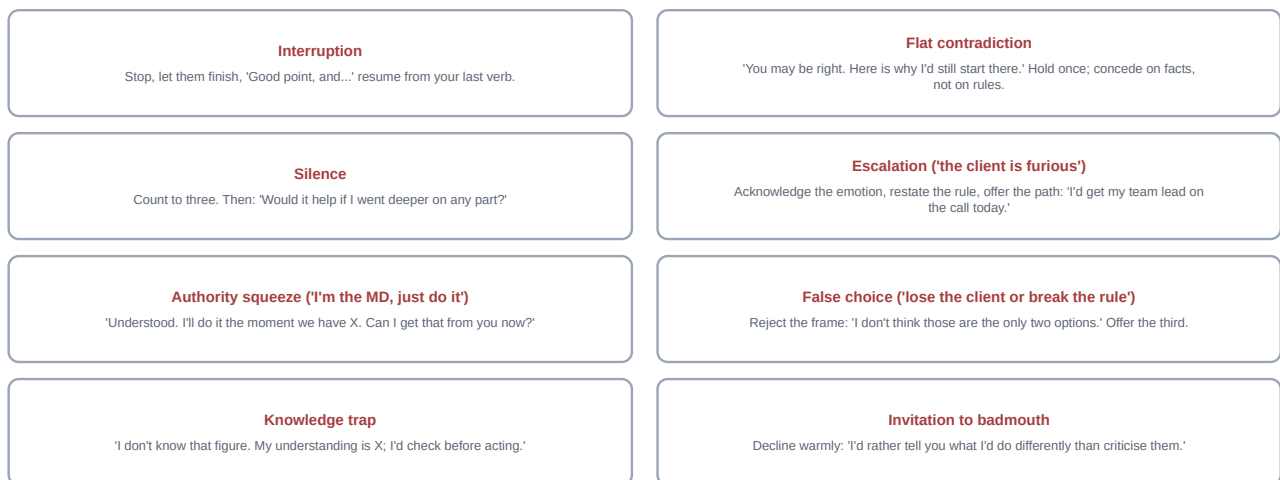

11.2 The priority order

When good things collide in this role: (1) the rules and the firm's name; (2) the client's outcome and fair treatment of every internal client and colleague; (3) the process and the record; (4) speed. The one sentence that holds every frame: "I'd rather be slow and right than fast and wrong, and I'd tell you that to your face." It works because it concedes nothing on 1, promises 2 and 3, and treats 4 honestly.

11.3 Eight ways interviewers break a frame, and the counters

Author's method. The counters keep the priority order intact and never concede on rules or confidentiality.

How to stay calm physically. Breathe out before you speak (the out-breath slows the heart; the in-breath does not). Feet flat, hands visible and still. Slow the first sentence by half. If your mind blanks, say the restating sentence from step 1; it is always available. Drink water before, not during. In a video interview, look at the camera when you deliver the close.

11.4 The scenario ladder: three for every duty in the posting

JD duty	Easy	Medium	Hard
Understand client needs and examine market activities to develop and execute strategies	The morning brief	The concentrated position	House view vs client vs banker
Work with a team of bankers, investment specialists, wealth advisors and lending specialists	The wrong specialist	Two specialists disagree	A specialist not responding
Collaborate with market strategy, equity and alternatives teams as part of a Solutions Team	The project brief	The number you can't verify	Private credit after the gates
Bring in new clients and serve existing ones	The prospect list	The first meeting	The client who wants to leave
Good judgment and discretion with confidential information	The friend	The document on the printer	The inside information

Duty 1: "understand client needs and examine market activities to develop and execute strategies"

Easy: the morning brief

Setup. The banker asks you to summarise what happened overnight for a client call at ten. Trap. Reciting headlines. Say. "Three things: oil is back above $100 on Hormuz, gilts are at 5.36%, and the Bank of England vote was 6-3 with three for a hike. For this client the one that matters is the floating-rate loan; I'd ask the Capital Advisor whether we should discuss fixing part of it." Why it works. The house view plus the client lens [S227][S258]. Twist. "The client thinks rates will fall." Hold: "Then I'd show them what the market is pricing and let them decide with the numbers in front of them."

Medium: the concentrated position

Setup. A founder client holds 70% of their wealth in one listed stock and says AI will make it triple. Trap. Arguing about AI. Say. "I'd acknowledge the conviction, then show two numbers: what a 40% drawdown would do to the family's plan, and what Cembalest's own note says about semiconductor technicals. Then I'd bring the Investor to discuss a hedge or a phased sale, and the Wealth Advisor on the tax." Why. Suitability and the four lenses [S238][S32]. Twist. "The client says you're too junior to have a view." Hold: "Fair. It isn't my view; it's the house view, and I'd get the Investor on the call."

Hard: the house view disagrees with the client and the banker

Setup. The banker wants to keep a client happy by agreeing to an all-gilts portfolio; the house view says diversify. Trap. Siding with either loudly. Say. "I'd put the two cases side by side for the banker privately: the client's stated goal, the after-tax real return on gilts with savings tax going to 47% in 2027, and the house allocation. Then the banker decides what to present. My job is to make sure the record shows the client chose with both options in front of them." Why. Suitability and the Consumer Duty's "consumer understanding" outcome [S146][S138]. Twist. "The banker says don't put it in writing." Hold: "I'd say the note protects them as much as the client, and I'd write it."

Duty 2: "work with a team of bankers, investment specialists, wealth advisors, and lending specialists"

Easy: the wrong specialist

Setup. A client emails you about a trust question. Trap. Answering it. Say. "I'd reply within the hour that I've passed it to our wealth advisory team and copy James Chilvers' team, with the banker in copy. Then I'd read up so I understand the answer when it comes." Why. The five-seat model; you are not qualified to advise [S28]. Twist. "The client says they only want to deal with you." Hold: "Then I'd stay the single point of contact and bring the specialist to the client rather than the client to the specialist."

Medium: two specialists disagree

Setup. The Investor wants the client fully invested; the Capital Advisor wants more collateral headroom on the loan. Trap. Picking a side. Say. "Both are right about their piece. I'd lay out the loan-to-value at three market levels and the cash the client needs for lifestyle, and let the banker frame the trade-off with the client. The bank's rule is two ways out, so the collateral view sets the floor." Why. "We want two ways out" [S318]. Twist. "Decide now." Hold: "Then the floor is the credit rule; within it, the Investor's plan."

Hard: a specialist is not responding and the client is waiting

Setup. The Wealth Advisor has not answered for a week; the client's lawyer is chasing. Trap. Complaining about the colleague. Say. "I'd walk over or call rather than email again; if they're overloaded I'd ask what I can prepare to unblock them; if it's still stuck I'd tell the banker the same day so the client gets a date, not silence." Why. "No side accounting groups" is also a no-blame rule; the client's outcome is priority 2 [S320]. Twist. "The banker says go around them." Hold: "I'd rather bring them along; but the client gets an answer this week either way."

Duty 3: "collaborate with market strategy, equity, and alternative investment teams... as part of a Solutions Team"

Easy: the project brief

Setup. Your intern project is "should our clients add infrastructure?" Trap. Writing an essay. Say. "I'd start from the house view (8 to 12% expected returns and 80% of family offices have none), then the client segment it suits, the vehicles we offer, the liquidity terms, and one page of risks. Two slides a banker could use." Why. The Mid-Year Outlook and the Family Office Report [S237] [S240]. Twist. "The alternatives team disagrees with your risk page." Hold: "Then their view goes in and mine goes in the appendix with the reason."

Medium: the number you cannot verify

Setup. A slide you inherited says a fund returned 14% a year; you cannot find the source. Trap. Leaving it in. Say. "I'd take it out or mark it unverified, tell the person who gave it to me, and replace it with the number I can source. A wrong figure in front of a client is a Consumer Duty problem, not a typo." Why. "Consumer understanding" outcome; Business Principle 12 [S146][S323]. Twist. "The meeting is in ten minutes." Hold: "Then it comes out; a missing number is better than a wrong one."

Hard: the private-credit pitch after the gates

Setup. You are asked to help pitch a semi-liquid private-credit fund to a client who needs the money in three years. Trap. Pitching it. Say. "I'd raise the mismatch before the meeting: after Blue Owl and Cliffwater gated redemptions, semi-liquid means sometimes not liquid, and this client has a date. I'd suggest either a smaller allocation from the patient part of the portfolio or a different product, and I'd document the suitability reasoning either way." Why. Suitability; the firm's own 2026 caution on private credit [S257][S223]. Twist. "The banker says the client asked for it." Hold: "Then we show them the liquidity terms in writing and let them choose."

Duty 4: "bring in new clients and serve existing ones"

Easy: the prospect list

Setup. Build a list of twenty prospects for the Entrepreneurs and Executives team. Trap. A list of famous people. Say. "I'd start inside the firm: founders whose companies the investment bank or commercial bank has just advised or lent to; then recent UK exits in the press; then the team's existing clients' co-founders. For each, one line on why now." Why. The referral engine; "42% of cap tables" ^[S320]. Twist. "Cold-call the top five." Hold: "I'd ask the banker for a warm route first; a referral converts far better than a cold call."

Medium: the first meeting

Setup. You join a first meeting with a founder who sold last month. Trap. Talking about products. Say. "My job is to listen and take the notes that matter: the four lenses, where the cash is now, who else they bank with, what they're worried about. Afterwards I'd draft the discovery summary and the three follow-ups within a day." Why. Discovery before proposal ^[S32]. Twist. "The client asks you directly what you'd do with £80m." Hold: "I'd say the honest answer is that it depends on what they want the money to do, and that's the conversation."

Hard: the client who wants to leave

Setup. A client is down 20% and says they are moving to a rival. Trap. Defending. Say. "Listen first, fully. Then review against the plan and the benchmark, not the headline number. Involve the Investor and the team lead the same day. Make no promises about performance. If they still go, make the exit clean; clients come back to banks that behaved well on the way out." Why. ">95% don't leave" is earned in these moments ^[S318]. Twist. "They say the rival offered lower fees." Hold: "Then I'd show what the fee bought, and I'd never match on price alone."

Duty 5: "good judgment and discretion when working with confidential information"

Easy: the friend

Setup. A friend asks whether a famous person is a client. Trap. A knowing smile. Say. "I don't confirm or deny anyone, ever, including people who aren't clients. That's the job." Twist. "It's already in the papers." Hold: "Then they can read the papers."

Medium: the document on the printer

Setup. You find another team's client file on a shared printer. Trap. Reading it. Say. "I'd turn it over, hand it to the team or to the CSA, and mention it to my team lead so the control gap is logged." Twist. "It's your own team's client." Hold: "Same answer; I'd still note that it was left there."

Hard: the inside information

Setup. A client says over lunch that their listed company is "about to be bought". Trap. Mentioning it to the Investor "so we can position". Say. "It might be material non-public information. I'd not act, not repeat it, tell compliance and my team lead as soon as I'm back, note the time and context, and let compliance decide about restrictions." Why. Market abuse rules; the information barrier ^[S82]. Twist. "The client says everyone knows." Hold: "If it isn't announced, I treat it as inside information."

11.5 The composure set, with decision trees

Author's method, consistent with Business Principles 5, 11 and 12 [S323] and the Consumer Duty [S206].

Author's method, consistent with Business Principles 5, 11 and 12 [S323] and the Consumer Duty [S206].

Hard: two senior people want the same scarce resource

Setup. Two bankers both need the Investor's afternoon for proposals due tomorrow; both ask you to "sort it". Tree. Is there a rule that decides (a regulatory deadline, a client-harm risk)? If yes, that one first. If not: which client outcome is worse if missed? Then which was asked first? Then escalate to the team lead with the facts, not the politics. Say. "I'd find out what each proposal actually needs from the Investor (often one needs an hour, not an afternoon), propose a split, and if that fails, take it to the team lead with both deadlines written down. I wouldn't decide it alone." Twist. "One of them is your boss." Hold: "Then I'd tell my boss what I'd do and why, and let them overrule me if they want."

The priority order is the author's synthesis of Business Principle 5 (risk discipline) and 1 (focus on the customer) [S323] and the Consumer Duty's 'good outcomes' standard [S206]

Figure 41. The scarce-resource collision and how it is allocated. An intern's job in a collision is to surface it, not to settle it.

Hard: a mistake you made

Setup. You sent a client a report with another client's name on it. Tree. Stop the harm (recall, call the client, apologise). Tell the banker and compliance immediately; a data breach may need reporting under UK GDPR within 72 hours. Document. Fix the process that let it happen. Say. "I'd call the client before they found it, tell my banker and compliance within the hour, and write down exactly what went out. Then I'd change how I check names before sending." Twist. "The client didn't notice." Hold: "They still get the call, and compliance still gets told."

Hard: incomplete information against a deadline

Setup. A proposal is due at nine; you have the client's investments but not their liabilities. Tree. Can the missing piece change the recommendation? If yes, say so on page one and give a range. If no, proceed and flag. Never fill the gap with a guess. Say. "I'd deliver on time with the assumption stated on the first page and the two cases it changes, and I'd have the question to the client ready for the banker." Twist. "Just assume they have no debt." Hold: "I'll assume it, label it, and show what changes if it's wrong."

11.6 The CV grill

How a three-levels-deep attack works. Level one: "Tell me about X on your CV." Level two: "What specifically did you do?" Level three: "What would have happened if you hadn't?" or "What number did that change?" Most candidates survive level one and collapse at level three because the bullet was a group's work or a description of activity rather than of a result.

Attack	Frame-holding answer
1. "This bullet says 'led'. How many people, and what did you decide?"	Give the number and one decision you made alone, with its consequence. If you did not lead, say "coordinated" and own that.
2. "What was the result, in a number?"	One number, its baseline, and the period. If there is no number, say what changed that someone else could see.
3. "What would you do differently?"	One specific thing, and what it would have improved. Never "nothing".

4. "Why did you leave / stop / not continue?"	The true reason in one sentence, then what you took from it. No criticism of the previous organisation.
5. "This looks like a group project. What was yours?"	Name your piece, its interface with others' pieces, and how you resolved one conflict in it.
6. "Your degree isn't finance. Why should we trust you with markets?"	"You shouldn't yet; that's what the training is for. What I bring is [curiosity, evidence]. And here is what I've read in the last month and what I think about it."
7. "You've applied to other banks."	"Yes, to [n]. Here is what is specific about this seat that the others don't have" (one mechanism from Part 12).
8. "Tell me something not on your CV."	Prepared: one thing that shows persistence or trust-building, with a number.

The four-line drill for every CV bullet. For each bullet write: (1) what I personally did (verbs); (2) the number that changed and its baseline; (3) the hardest moment and what I decided; (4) what I would do differently. If you cannot fill all four lines, rewrite the bullet or remove it.

PART 12

"Why J.P. Morgan" in three lengths, and the counter-case

Mechanism, not adjectives. Each version could not be transplanted to a rival without changing the words.

WHY J.P. MORGAN PRIVATE BANK: THE MECHANISM ON ONE PAGE

12.1 Thirty seconds

SAY THIS IN THE INTERVIEW (ADAPT THE BRACKETED PART TO YOU)

"Two things about this seat that I can't get elsewhere. First, the way clients arrive: the investment bank sells a founder's company and the founder becomes a Private Bank client, and the firm's rule is that nobody counts the credit, which is why over 95% of its top clients use other parts of the bank. Second, the way bankers are made: the firm seeds books rather than buying them, half its advisors are home-grown, and it has gone from 2,500 to 4,100 advisors in five years while saying Europe is where it wants share. I want to be trained in that model, in London, and [the specific thing: the work with families rethinking residence after the non-dom changes]."

12.2 Two minutes

Use this shape; the sentences are yours to rewrite.

- What the seat is. "I understand the Advisor is the banker who owns the relationship and brings in the Investor, the Capital Advisor and the Wealth Advisor. It is a relationship and sales job with technical content, inside a team, not a solo investing job. That is what I want, and here is why [one piece of evidence from your life: something you sold, someone whose trust you earned over time, a long run of no before a yes]."
- The first mechanism: where clients come from. "Most private banks compete for the same families with the same products. This one has a referral engine no rival has at scale: the number one investment bank by fees for fifteen years, a commercial bank with 60,000 mid-sized companies, Chase branches that Erdoes says two thousand private banking clients walk into every day, and a workplace equity platform with 1.8 million participants. The rule that makes it work is 'no side accounting groups': nobody fights over who booked the revenue."

3. The second mechanism: the balance sheet. "The Private Bank has $266bn of loans with losses of one to four basis points a year and calls itself the largest lending business in private banking. For a founder who has just sold, or a family buying a house without selling investments, that is the product. A boutique cannot do it."
4. The third mechanism: how bankers are made. "The firm says it seeds books, doesn't buy them; that productivity doubles after a year and break-even comes in year three; that home-grown 25-year-olds now match mid-career hires; and that hiring will normalise later this decade. So the 2027 class is being trained at the peak of the build. I want to be in it."
5. Why London. "London runs the international bank. The International CEO told Euromoney the biggest share opportunity is in Europe; the UK head is reported to be hiring thirty people a year; and the April 2025 tax changes mean every international family in London is having a residence conversation. I want to learn on that."
6. The honest caveat. "I know it is not the biggest wealth manager, that Europe is a long runway from a share below one percent, and that the conduct history includes Epstein. I'd rather join a firm that discloses its numbers and its mistakes than one that doesn't."
7. The close. "The specific thing I want to work on is [X]."

12.3 The close: one specific thing

Pick one and make it yours. Each is real, current and specific to London.

- The UK Wealth Advisory team's work with families deciding whether to stay after the non-dom abolition: the four-year FIG window, the 12 then 15 percent repatriation facility, the ten-of-twenty-years inheritance-tax test [\[S136\]](#)[\[S31\]](#).
- The new Financial Institutions Group under Paul Ferry: private equity and hedge fund partners with carried interest that is taxed as income from April 2026 [\[S377\]](#).
- The London Middle East desk and the Saudi and Dubai build-out: Gulf families served from London, Dubai and Riyadh [\[S44\]](#)[\[S351\]](#).
- The Entrepreneurs and Executives team and pre-liquidity planning: the founder eighteen months before the sale [\[S43\]](#)[\[S198\]](#).
- The private-credit conversation after the 2026 redemption gates: explaining liquidity honestly to clients in evergreen funds [\[S257\]](#).

12.4 What most candidates will say, and what you can say

Most candidates	You
"J.P. Morgan is a global leader with a great reputation."	"The number one investment bank by fees sits next to the number one private bank, and the rule is that nobody counts referral credit. That is why founders end up here."
"I want to learn from the best people."	"The firm seeds books rather than buying them and half of its advisors are home-grown; I want to be grown, and the firm has told shareholders that is its plan."
"I'm passionate about markets."	"Gilts are at 5.36% and the Bank of England voted 6-3; for a client with a floating loan that is the conversation this month. Here is what I'd say to them."
"I love working with people."	"I want the seat that owns the relationship and orchestrates five specialists. Here is the evidence from my life that I can win trust and take rejection."
"London is a global financial centre."	"London runs J.P. Morgan's international private bank, Europe is the named share opportunity, and every international family here is rethinking residence. I want to learn on that."

"The culture seems collaborative."

"The culture is 'face facts' and 'kill bureaucracy'; the firm publishes its mistakes. I'd rather that than a brochure."

12.5 The honest counter-case list

- It is not the largest wealth manager (Morgan Stanley, UBS) and did not win Euromoney's global title in 2025 or 2026 [\[S154\]\[S155\]\[S177\]\[S242\]](#).
- Europe is a long runway: about $750bn of international client assets against UBS's $4.8tn; share "below 1%" in several markets [\[S320\]\[S316\]](#).
- A bank-owned wealth manager has product conflicts, and the firm says it "prefers J.P. Morgan managed strategies" [\[S195\]](#).
- The conduct history is real: London Whale, FX, spoofing, recordkeeping, trade surveillance, Epstein [\[S97\]\[S100\]\[S101\]\[S102\]\[S103\]\[S108\]](#).
- The job is a sales job with a slow start; the firm's own words are "12-hour days six days a week" early on and break-even in year three [\[S334\]\[S317\]](#).
- Size brings "complexity, bureaucracy and complacency", in the CEO's words [\[S311\]](#).

None of these is a reason not to apply. All of them are reasons to sound like someone who has read the firm rather than its adverts.

Cheat sheet

One page. Print it.

THE CHEAT SHEET IN ONE PICTURE

PROTOCOL

Steady → Sort → Act → Close
45 to 75 seconds

PRIORITY ORDER

1 rules and the firm's name
2 the client's outcome
3 process and record
4 speed

THE SENTENCE

'I'd rather be slow and right than fast and wrong, and I'd tell you that to your face.'

THE MECHANISM

Referral engine with no credit-counting · balance sheet, two ways out · seeded books, home-grown advisors · uniform global model, Europe the share target

THE NEVERS

Confirm a client · open before KYC · act on or repeat inside information · promise a loan or return · give advice as an intern · badmouth anyone · say 'biggest and best'

Protocol (45 to 75 seconds)

1. Steady: "Let me make sure I've understood." Restate.
2. Sort: rule, client, process, speed. "First, is there anything here I can't do?"
3. Act: verbs and people. "I'd check, then call, then bring in the Capital Advisor because..."
4. Close: "And I'd log it and tell my team lead." Stop.

Priority order

1. The rules and the firm's name
2. The client's outcome; fair treatment of every colleague
3. The process and the record
4. Speed

"I'd rather be slow and right than fast and wrong, and I'd tell you that to your face."

The never list

- Never confirm a client's name.
- Never open before KYC is complete.
- Never act on or repeat non-public information.
- Never promise a loan or a return.
- Never give regulated advice as an intern.
- Never badmouth a rival, a colleague or a former employer.
- Never say "biggest and best".

Counters

- Interruption: let them finish; "good point, and..."
- Contradiction: concede facts, never rules.
- Silence: count three; offer to go deeper.
- Escalation: acknowledge, restate the rule, offer the path.
- Authority squeeze: "the moment we have X".
- False choice: "I don't think those are the only two options."
- Knowledge trap: "I don't know; my understanding is..."
- Badmouth invite: "I'd rather say what I'd do differently."

Lines to have ready

- "The Advisor owns the relationship and brings in the Investor, the Capital Advisor and the Wealth Advisor."
- "The referral engine: IB founders, commercial bank owners, Chase, Workplace; and nobody counts the credit."
- "We seed books, we don't buy them."
- "Two ways out on every loan."
- "The best in the industry for our clients, not the biggest."
- "Europe is where the biggest opportunity is to grow share."

Numbers if asked (FY2025 unless stated)

- Firm: revenue $185.6bn; net income $57.0bn; ROTCE 20%; CET1 14.5%; ~320,000 staff.
- AWM: revenue $24.1bn; margin 36%; ROE 40%; client assets $7.1tn ($7.7tn Q2 2026); flows $553bn.
- Private Bank: revenue $12.4bn; 4,101 advisors (2,500 in 2020); loans $266bn; charge-offs 1 to 4bp.
- EMEA: revenue +14%, assets +25%, advisers +9% (year to June 2025); 17+ offices, 11 countries.
- Markets today: gilts 5.36%; Bank Rate 3.75% (6-3 hold); Fed hike expected 16 Sep; oil above $100.
- Regulation: Consumer Duty 31 Jul 2023; MiFID II 3 Jan 2018; SM&CR 2016/2019; CP25/36 £10m opt-up pending; non-dom abolished 6 Apr 2025.

One question to ask

"The Lending Advisor posting calls the role 'internal sales leader for the credit product'. How much of a UK team's growth today comes from lending versus discretionary mandates, and what does an intern learn about credit in nine weeks?"

PART 14

Glossary

Sixty-plus terms, each defined the way you would say it to a client.

Advisor (J.P. Morgan)

The client-facing relationship banker; elsewhere "private banker" or "relationship manager". The seat this internship leads to.

Advisory mandate

The bank recommends; the client approves each decision.

Alternatives

Investments outside listed shares, bonds and cash: private equity, private credit, hedge funds, real estate, infrastructure. Illiquid, higher fee.

AML

Anti-money-laundering: the rules and checks that stop criminal money entering the bank.

Appropriateness test

Under MiFID II, checking that a client understands a complex product bought without advice.

Asset management fees

Fees charged as a percentage of assets managed or advised; AWM's largest revenue line ($15.5bn in 2025).

AUM / client assets

Assets under management are money the firm actively invests; client assets add money it holds, advises on or custodies. Client assets is the broader, headline number.

AWM

Asset & Wealth Management, the JPMorgan Chase segment containing Asset Management and the Global Private Bank.

Basel 3.1

The final set of international bank capital rules; live in the UK from 1 January 2027.

Basis point (bp)

One hundredth of one percent. Fees, spreads and returns are quoted in it.

Brokerage / execution-only

The client instructs, the bank executes, no advice is given.

Capital Advisor

The Private Bank's lending specialist: mortgages, securities-based loans, specialty lending.

CCB

Consumer & Community Banking: Chase, the US retail bank, which also houses Chase's own wealth business and Chase UK.

CET1 ratio

Common Equity Tier 1 capital divided by risk-weighted assets; the core measure of a bank's safety. JPMorgan: 14.5% at end-2025.

CIB

Commercial & Investment Bank: the wholesale bank serving companies and institutions, including Commercial Banking since 2024.

CISI

Chartered Institute for Securities & Investment; awards the Level 4 Investment Advice Diploma and the Level 7 Chartered Wealth Manager qualification.

Client Service Associate

The team member who runs onboarding, documents, payments and meeting materials.

Connect Coach

J.P. Morgan's AI assistant for advisors: next-best-action prompts, meeting prep, talking points; 12,000 users.

Consumer Duty

FCA rules (in force 31 July 2023) requiring firms to deliver good outcomes for retail customers and avoid foreseeable harm.

Corporate trustee

A company (here a J.P. Morgan trust company) acting as trustee of a family's trust.

Discretionary mandate

The bank makes and executes investment decisions within parameters the client sets.

Drawdown fund

A private fund that calls committed capital over several years and returns it over about ten.

Elective professional client

A client who opts out of retail protections; the FCA proposes a £10m investable-assets route (CP25/36).

Evergreen fund

A private-markets fund invested up front with limited periodic redemptions; "semi-liquid".

Eye on the Market

Michael Cembalest's research note for the Private Bank, published since 2005.

Family office

A private company a very wealthy family sets up to manage its affairs; single- or multi-family.

FCA / PRA

The UK conduct regulator and the prudential regulator (part of the Bank of England), created 1 April 2013.

Fiduciary

A duty to act in the client's interest ahead of your own; AWM's "north star".

FIG regime

The four-year foreign income and gains exemption that replaced the non-dom regime from 6 April 2025.

Fortress balance sheet

Holding more capital and liquidity than required; Business Principle 5.

FSCS

The UK deposit guarantee scheme; J.P. Morgan SE London Branch participates.

Global Private Bank (GPB)

J.P. Morgan's business serving wealthy families worldwide; half of AWM's revenue.

HNW / UHNW

High-net-worth (over $1m investable by convention) and ultra-high-net-worth (over $30m).

HireVue

The recorded video interview platform; three to five questions, two-minute answers, one retry.

Information barrier

The controls that stop non-public information crossing between the investment bank and the private bank.

Inheritance tax (IHT)

UK tax on estates; now residence-based for worldwide assets after ten of twenty years' residence.

International Private Bank (IPB)

The non-US Private Bank, run from London; about 1,000 relationship managers.

Investor (J.P. Morgan)

The investment specialist who builds and runs client portfolios and leads the market conversation.

KYC

Know Your Customer: verifying identity and source of wealth before and during a relationship.

Liquidity event

The moment paper wealth becomes cash: a sale, an IPO, an inheritance.

Lombard loan

A loan secured on a portfolio of securities; also "securities-based lending".

Long-Term Capital Market Assumptions (LTCMA)

J.P. Morgan Asset Management's annual 10-to-15-year return forecasts used for strategic allocation.

Loan-to-value (LTV)

The loan as a share of the collateral's value; the lower, the safer.

Managed revenue

JPMorgan's non-GAAP revenue basis that grosses up tax-exempt income; used for all segment figures.

Margin call

A demand for more collateral or repayment when the value of pledged securities falls.

Market abuse

Insider dealing, unlawful disclosure or manipulation; a civil and criminal offence.

Market Manager

The commercial lead of a Private Bank market team; the Lending Advisor's counterpart.

MiFID II

EU and UK investment-services rules in force 3 January 2018: suitability, costs disclosure, product governance, call recording.

Net interest income (NII)

Interest earned on loans and securities minus interest paid on deposits; 28% of AWM revenue in 2025.

Net new assets / flows

Money in minus money out, excluding market moves; AWM's headline growth measure ($553bn in 2025).

Non-dom

The former UK status for residents domiciled abroad; abolished from 6 April 2025.

Open architecture

Offering external managers' products, not only the firm's own.

PEP

Politically exposed person; triggers enhanced due diligence.

Pretax margin

Pretax income divided by revenue; AWM 36% and the Private Bank 37% in 2025.

Private credit

Loans made by funds rather than banks; a $1.8tn market under stress in 2026.

RDR

The Retail Distribution Review (31 December 2012): commission ban, adviser charging, Level 4 qualification.

ROTCE / ROE

Return on tangible common equity (the firm's headline measure, 20% in 2025) and return on equity (AWM 40%).

Share of wallet

The fraction of a family's total wealth held with the firm; the aim is to be the primary bank.

SM&CR

The Senior Managers and Certification Regime: personal accountability, certified persons, Conduct Rules.

Source of wealth / source of funds

How the total fortune was made / where this particular money came from.

SpectrumIQ

AWM's AI platform that automated about 75% of equity trading and now runs proxy voting.

Strategic / tactical asset allocation

The long-run mix set from goals and the LTCMA / short-term tilts around it.

Structured note

A bank-issued note packaging derivatives to give income or capital protection.

Suitability

The MiFID II requirement that a recommendation fits the client's knowledge, finances and objectives, with the reasoning recorded.

Targeted support

The FCA's new regime (6 April 2026) for ready-made suggestions to groups of consumers without a personal recommendation.

Temporary Repatriation Facility

A 12% then 15% charge for bringing pre-2025 offshore income into the UK.

10-K

The annual report a US-listed company files with the SEC; the primary source for all segment numbers here.

23 Wall

The Private Bank's unit for the largest families and family offices; named after the old headquarters.

Wealth Advisor

The trusts, estates, tax-aware structuring and philanthropy specialist, often a former lawyer.

Wealth Management Solutions

The AWM unit that builds the advice and product platform shared by the Private Bank and Chase.

PART 16

Gaps and open questions

What could not be established, told straight, so you know where the pack's edges are.

Gap	What was tried, and what to do
The full text of requisition 210773470 and its close date	The careers page is script-rendered; the public data feed gave title, date, location and the short description, and the analyst-programme twin confirms the 1 November 2026 deadline [S260] [S47] . Copy the live posting text into your own notes.
Interviewer names and the London final-round format	None supplied; no London-specific Private Bank final-round report exists in public sources. Part 10 gives interviewer types and the UK leadership; Part 9 gives US reports. If you get names, research public professional profiles only.
Whether written motivation questions or a games assessment appear in this cycle	Postings name only HireVue; one September 2026 London report saw neither; vendors disagree. Treat essays as unlikely and games as retired, but be ready [S272] [S294] .
UK Private Bank headcount and the intern's employing entity	Not published. Estimate: 100 to 180 client-facing, 150 to 250 in total, low to medium confidence. Entity: J.P. Morgan SE London Branch is the UK deposit-taker; the employer of analysts is not stated [S71] .
Private Bank fee schedule and minimums for EMEA	No tariff is published; aggregators cite 0.6% to 1.75% and about £10m [S76] . Do not quote a minimum as fact.
Intern and analyst pay in London	Aggregator estimates only (about £42,000 to £44,000 annualised for summer analysts; about £75,000 average for a "private banker") [S298] [S117] . Anecdotal.
Whether the analyst programme funds CISI exams	Not confirmed from any primary source; the MENAT banker posting prefers a Level 4 certificate [S44] . Ask.
Final rules on client categorisation (CP25/36)	No policy statement had been published by 11 September 2026 [S249] . Check the FCA site the week of your interview.
Deepak Chander's coverage; the current EMEA marketing head; a named UK lending head	Not resolvable from public pages; the marketing seat was posted as open on 11 September 2026 [S48] .
The "two ways out" and "97% collateralised" phrases in 2025 to 2026 primary sources	They come from the 2022 to 2023 Investor Days [S317] [S318] ; the 2025 sources say "highly collateralized" and give 0.04% charge-offs [S90] [S82] . Attribute to the earlier years.
Dimon's 2025 letter read directly	Read through secondary reports for the 2026 sweep [S223] [S224] and directly for the strategy work [S311] ; the "skunk at the party" phrase appears only in a snippet. Read the letter yourself; it is 48 pages.
Whether Citywire's "30 hires a year, double in five years" is accurate	Paywalled; snippet only [S66] [S235] . Say "reported" if you use it.
The 2026-cycle offer timing for London	No dated report. By the reported cadence, September applications produced October and November offers.
Some peer valuation multiples and adviser counts	Approximate and labelled on the charts. Do not quote them precisely.
Items suggested in the brief that could not be substantiated	A 2021 PRA fine and a 2022 FCA fine on JPMorgan entities; a "25% alternatives target"; "OneJPM" as an official slogan; "complete the mission" as a Dimon quotation. Treated as non-existent.

Final self-check

- ✓ Every figure carries a source and date beneath it; estimates are labelled on the chart (Figures on size versus staffing, growth, ROTCE, the team org chart and the headcount estimate).
- ✓ A beginner can read Parts 1, 2 and 5 without another source: every term is defined in line and collected in Part 14.
- ✓ The "why J.P. Morgan" material in Part 12 is built from six mechanisms with numbers and sources; none can be transplanted to UBS, Goldman, Coutts or Morgan Stanley without changing the words.
- ✓ The regulatory section (Part 6) carries instrument names and dates verified against FCA, PRA, HMRC and legislation pages as of 11 September 2026, with the one pending item (CP25/36) flagged.
- ✓ The team section (Part 1.8) goes beyond the posting: seventeen live requisitions read, seven team leads profiled, a headcount range with the method shown and thin evidence admitted.
- ✓ Every duty in the posting has three scenarios (Part 11.4) and the composure set has two drawn decision trees plus three written ones (Part 11.5).
- ✓ People sections contain only public professional information; identity uncertainty is flagged (Deepak Chander).
- ✓ The PDF rendered with a two-pass build so the contents page shows real page numbers; every figure page was rasterised and checked for clipping before delivery.
- ✓ What could not be found is listed above.
